THREE ARRESTS TODAY IN ABDUCTION CASE IN THIS CITY

Three arrests were made in Nashua, N. H., today in connection with the alleged attempt in this city last evening to abduct Athena Akrotou, aged 17 years, from the corner of Moody and Colburn streets while she was returning from the evening session at the Crozier school to her home at 24 Prince street. With the man detained in this city last evening the police claim that they now have the four men implicated in the abduction.

The men arrested in Nashua this morning are Athanasios Chumoras of Dunmer street and James Antonio and John Roussos of Worthington street, all of Lowell. Prior to their arrest they were last seen disappearing in the woods near Lakeview about 10 o'clock last evening, and it is believed they wandered in the woods until they thought it safe to venture out and try and reach Nashua. They were returned to this city today by Patrolman Peter Tsafaras. All are charged with assault and battery.

Held in $1000 Bonds

The other defendant, John A. Coutas, now of Boston, but formerly of Lowell, was arraigned before Judge Dwight in police court today. Through counsel, A. S. Goldman, he pleaded not guilty to a complaint of assault and battery on Athena Akrotou and was that of the senior senator. A brief but vigorous speech was made by Congressman John Jacob Rogers whose popularity with the audience was unquestionable.

REPUBLICANS PARADE AND HOLD BIG RALLY

The drawing power of Senator Lodge as a campaign speaker was well demonstrated last evening in Associate hall by the large crowd that gathered to hear him. Senator Lodge, though perceptibly aging, is still alert and vigorous and his voice is still clear and strong. Last evening he made a campaign speech of the old-fashioned kind, asserting that unless the republicans are put back to power and unless we have a protectionist tariff the country is surely going to ruin.

Torchlight Parade

Senator Lodge came to Lowell early in the evening and went to the Richardson hotel where he was met by members of the republican club committee. A luncheon was enjoyed after which a parade was organized in front of the hotel. The Sixth Regiment band

CHALIFOUX'S ON THE SQUARE

Stranger than fiction, thrilling in every detail to the most prosaic mind, was the appearance of the Deutschland in the harbor at Baltimore. She had accomplished the impossible. Her marvelous feat was due to the clever foresighted planning and to willing, daring enterprise. It's romance. The Deutschland was called a "success." Our business is known as a "success" and that means much to us and to you. It has been brought about by that same foresight and restless enterprise that went into the sea monster's weird voyage.

TEUTONS SWEEP ON AGAINST RUSSO- RUMANIANS

Tchernavoda on Danube and Vulcan Pass on Transylvania Border Captured—French Hold Gains at Verdun

The process of closing in on Rumania from both sides is being continued by the armies of the central powers. Tchernavoda on the Danube and Vulcan pass on the Transylvanian border have been captured.

Petrograd Admits Loss

The loss of Tchernavoda by the Russo-Rumanian forces to Field Marshal von Mackensen's victorious armies is conceded by Petrograd which announced the evacuation of this important town, from which stretches the only bridge across the Danube from Dobruja, carrying the railway line running into interior Rumania.

Russo-Rumanian Retreat

Important entente forces evidently remain on the Dobruja side of the Danube, as Petrograd mentions the continued retreat of Russo-Rumanian troops northward along the Black sea coast. Berlin comments that the loss of Tchernavoda deprives them of their last railroad communication.

Important Success for Teutons

The Austro-German success on the north is likewise important, an opening another route into Rumania from Transylvania for Gen. von Falkenhayn's forces. Vulcan pass penetrates the Transylvanian Alps half way between the Iron Gate of the Danube and Rohlenthaum pass below Hermannstadt.

Success for Russians

Petrograd announces a success for the Russians near Dorna Watra close to the junction of the frontiers of Bukovina, Hungary and Rumania, where the Austro-German forces have been driven from a series of heights.

Fort Douaumont in Flames

Reporting on the French advance at Verdun, Berlin says the attack gained ground as far as Fort Douaumont, which, however, flames, and that the fighting was continuing.

More Neutral Ships Sunk

German submarine attacks on Norwegian shipping continue. Today five additional Norwegian vessels are reported sunk.

French Hold Gains

The French have maintained the important ground they won yesterday in their coup north of Verdun, the Paris war office announced today.

Last night Paris of the regained territory which includes Fort Douaumont and stretches along a front of more than four miles at points nearly two miles inside the former German lines were subjected to a German counter attack. The French held their ground, however, according to Paris, repulsing the German assaults, which were delivered in efforts to recapture the Haudoumont quarries, west of Douaumont and the Jamoupp battery, southeast of Vaux. The commander at Fort Douaumont, is among the prisoners taken by the French, which a preliminary report placed at 3500 men. Fort Vaux is still in German hands, but the French lines run beyond it on both sides. Rain is interfering with operations on the Somme front. Only artillery actions are reported in that area.

Important Move in Balkans

Today's French official report announces an important military move in the Balkans, where Italian cavalry from southern Albania has formed a junction with cavalry and artillery from the entente front in Macedonia. This gives the entente an unbroken front of 250 miles across the southern Balkan peninsula from Avlona, Albania, on the Adriatic, to the mouth of the Struma river east of Salonika, on the Aegean coast.

Russian Losses Since June 1, 1,797,522

Total casualties in the Russian army since June 1, are placed at 1,797,522 in figures given out today by a semi-official news agency in Berlin, declared to have been taken from the latest reports of the Russian Central identification bureau at Kiev.

OFFICIAL REPORT OF OPERATIONS IN FRANCO-BELGIAN FRONT

LONDON, Oct. 25.—The official report of today from the Franco-Belgian front follows: "Heavy rain fell during the whole of yesterday. During the night the enemy's artillery was active northeast of Concretello and along the Pozieres-Bapaume road (Somme front)."

SAYS FRENCH GOVERNMENT MADE NO DEMANDS ON GREECE

ATHENS, Oct. 24, via London, Oct. 25.—The Greek government today issued a communication to clear up misunderstandings due to exaggerated reports of King Constantine's interview with the French military attaché on Friday. The communication explains that the French government made no demands but merely submitted a memorandum and that the king never declared he was prepared to break off relations with the entente.

It is thought that as a result of a conversation between the king and the French minister this morning during which explanations were made, the French marines may be withdrawn shortly from Athens and Piraeus.

A Reuters dispatch sent from Athens on Friday, said the French military attaché had presented to the king demands that Greece transfer the entire

BOMB EXPLOSION IN NEW YORK SUBWAY FOUR INJURED

NEW YORK, Oct. 25.—Explosion of a bomb or dynamite at the 110th street station of the Lenox avenue subway line early today did considerable damage to that station, smashed the ticket agent's booth, injured the agent slightly, broke the electric lamps and windows in the kiosks, tore off a portion of the sidewalk overhead and broke the windows in some of the apartment houses nearby. There was no train at the station or near at the moment. Traffic in the subway was suspended for half an hour or more as the result of the blast.

Subway employees at that station said they saw no one loitering about and did not know how the explosive was brought into the station. The only theory they could suggest was that it might have been set off because of the street railway strike which has been in progress since early in September.

The explosive evidently was placed upon one of the tracks at the southern end of the station platform. The explosion took place before daylight. It tore up one of the railway ties, broke away a part of the concrete platform, wrecked the ticket agent's booth and threw the ticket chopper 20 feet from his post. The explosion was heard nearly a mile away. Ambulances and physicians, policemen and repair crews were summoned, but there was little to do except to clear away the broken glass and shattered concrete.

Four Persons Injured

Later police reports showed that four persons were injured. Charles Eckhart, ticket agent, received scalp lacerations; Louis Lapari, ticket chopper, received scalp wounds; a messenger boy named Garby, was hurled from the platform to the tracks and Otis Williams, a negro, who said he was entering the station, received lacerations and a sprained knee cap.

Explosive Was Bomb

Inspector Owen Egan of the bureau of combustibles, said the explosive was a bomb containing high power dynamite. It was placed under the edge of the platform and not on the tracks as at first reported.

A subway train containing passengers had left the station exactly two minutes before the explosion occurred. Several stores in the vicinity were robbed through windows shattered by the concussion.

U. S. SOLDIERS ARE KILLED IN FIGHT

Several Americans are also reported killed, including two officers, and one American officer was wounded. The names of the officers killed are given as Capt. William Low and Atwood. Lieut. Morrison was wounded. The American commander attempted to arrest Gen. Batista, who resisted and ordered an attack on the American forces. Fighting continued for a considerable time, but the rebels eventually were defeated.

PREDEAL BATTLE DESCRIBED BY EYE WITNESS

AT THE HEAD OF PREDEAL PASS, ROMANIAN FRONTIER, WITH GENERAL VON FALKENHAYN'S ARMY, Oct. 15, by Courier to Berlin, via London, Oct. 21. In yesterday's battle around Predal Pass the Associated Press correspondent visited various German and Hungarian battery positions where the men, unharmed by the fighting, kept up a fearful bombardment of the opposing positions in the campaign for the invasion of Rumania. The men went to their work in almost a holiday spirit, for it was a sense of deep relief that the Germans and Hungarians here, officers and men alike, have left behind them the trench warfare of other sections and thrown themselves into open field maneuvers against the Rumanians.

Rush to Front Stings

It was scarcely believable that after two years of strenuous life at the front the Rumanians should rush to the assault with such a feeling of relief, to which the universal feeling here of dealing with a foe who has yet to learn every trick of modern warfare contributes much. Though the German and Hungarian infantrymen were about to rush into the fire of Rumanian rifles, and machine guns they viewed the Rumanian troops with a feeling of respect, and open field work was preferable to trench warfare. Officers explained that the change virtually would make the troops fresh forces, owing to the novelty and the greater opportunity for initiative on the part of the men and also to the fact that after the Rumanians of the central powers are best suited for maneuvering, because of the training they have received along that line.

Like Open Field Battle

The Predal battle is one of the few open field actions witnessed in this war by correspondents who are able to approach within less than 2000 yards of the skirmishing line, with the artillery in the rear. At 11 o'clock in the morning German artillery opened a desultory fire on the Rumanian trenches on Susani mountain, 5000 feet high, which an hour later reached its maximum fury. The fire was then directed mainly against the trenches some 500 feet below the summit. For a quarter of an hour the Rumanians stuck to their trenches, the artillery fire then showing merely a line of individual shell clouds. Then, coming from the artillery positions in the skirmishing line that the Rumanians thus far seemed not to be impressed, the German artillery increased the fire so that a few minutes afterwards the smoke from the shells mingled in a cloud bank. The Rumanian infantry still held on for a time, but finally broke across the line like a swarm of ants, and the German and Hungarian infantry came in view. German artillery followed up the fleeing Rumanians with shrapnel and the manner in which the fire pursued the Rumanians appeared almost uncanny.

On a ridge leading from Susani mountain the Rumanian infantry finally reached their second position. A hill ensued. A few minutes before 2 p. m. it was decided to resume operations. German artillery, now aided by some Hungarian batteries, repeated the work of the morning and then the infantry rushed forward and in a comparatively short time the objective was gained.

Blow Up Town in 15 Minutes

The ground here extremely difficult, the Rumanians endeavored to forward infantry reinforcements through the Predal Pass, while the result that heavy German and Hungarian guns inside of 15 minutes blew up half of the town. The Rumanian forces were obliged to seek shelter in the forest above the town, passing through German infantry fire at long range. The losses of General Falkenhayn's army are said to have been light. An officer of the general staff told the correspondent that in the battle of Kronwith burning buildings with intent to defraud an insurance company. Previous to this the defendants have been tried separately.

Cigarettes enclosed in a full match box and this surrounded by shavings and turpentine are the means which the government claims that Simon Levine, Samuel Lishner, Isadore and Jacob Leventhal and Jacob Smaller employed in starting seven fires soon after midnight on Feb. 15 on the second, third and fourth floors of the tenement building at 235-3 Dudley street, Roxbury.

Each Got $125 for Job

Assistant District Attorney McIsaac said that the government would show that it took about 18 or 20 minutes for a fire thus arranged to make headway. After the fires had been started, he said in his opening to the jury, the four men whom he claimed were immediately involved in the setting of the fires jumped into an automobile and sped away to East Boston just as the apparatus arrived on the scene. In East Boston, he continued, they were paid $125 each by Isadore Leventhal. He said that he would show that Simon Levine and Samuel Lishner hired men to set fire to the building at a price of $500 after a previous unsuccessful attempt.

Insured for $20,000

Mr. McIsaac said that Samuel Lishner had secured the building and had conveyed it to Annie Levine, the deceased wife of Simon Levine. At the time of this sale, he said, there was a mortgage of $15,000 on the property, and it was insured for $20,000. After the rule Lishner, he said, retained an equity of $500.

It would also appear, Mr. McIsaac said, that after the place had been cleared of the 14 tenants, Levine and Lishner were hard up.

Deputy Chief Bennett testified that he detected the order of turpentine. He said that the fire threatened the whole district, and for that reason four alarms had been rung by the found holes in the floors which he thought had been sawed out.

Edward J. Fennessey, a plumber, who occupied a store on the Oakland street side of the building, said that he remembered at the time having remarked that he would give $50 to discover who set the fire.

He said that if the street were quiet in front of the building he thought a police officer on the street could hear noises in the building such as would be occasioned by the sawing up of boards or the sawing of holes in the floor in condition to take account of such things. By that he said he meant, as the spectators smiled audibly, that the officer's mind might be attracted to something else.

FREE OPENING LECTURE

Tonight at the Y.M.C.A. there will be a free opening lecture for men on the subject of "The Human Body." Dr. Wm. M. Jones of this city, who lectures in the evening at a series of lectures by the educational department in its first aid to the injured class. What to do in time of emergency is one of the necessities of the times. This lecture and those to follow are designed for this purpose. When lives are in danger, it is not sympathy that is needed, but knowledge. It is very fortunate for the Y.M.C.A. that they have secured the services of Dr. E. A. Robertson, who will take charge of the course. The lectures will be supplemented by demonstrations on supposed cases, and by quizzes and practical work by the students. This should prove most interesting and decidedly instructive. Further particulars may be had at the Y.M.C.A. or at the lecture tonight at 7.30. All men are invited.

DIVORCE FOR PRINCESS AIMEE

NEW YORK, Oct. 25.—Princess Aimee Crocker Goudard Miskinoff, California heiress, will soon be freed from her youthful husband, Prince Alexander Miskinoff, Russian nobleman, whom she secretly wedded in London in 1914. A supreme court referee yesterday recommended that the decree be granted, and Justice Greenbaum, to whom the referee's report was submitted, in all probability will grant the decree, since the prince, who fought the suit at the private hearings, offered no opposition to his wife's plea for freedom. The princess, whose romance attracted attention in two continents, will retain her title, but according to her attorney, John C. Olden, will drop into seclusion immediately.

CONGREGATIONAL CHURCHES

At a meeting of pastors and members of Congregational churches of Lowell and suburbs held last evening plans were made for evangelical work during the winter. It is proposed to enlist a number of men and women in each church to engage in the work of personal evangelism in study classes and neighborhood prayer meetings were also suggested.

Do you own an auto, or even a divo? The latter even costs something to keep going, although you may know enough about machines to do most of the work yourself. Ever have it overhauled and paid the bill therefor? I remember the first bill for overhauling I ever saw. It wasn't mine. There were two bills a yard long each. One called upon the poor doctor to pay $57.45—the other totaled up $34.67. Among the items there wasn't any calling for tires, quizes and brake work by the students. This should prove most interesting and decidedly instructive. Further particulars may be had at the Y.M.C.A. or at the lecture tonight at 7.30. All men are invited.

mean success to the boys from the old South common. Take them all in all and extending no invidious comparisons with teams of the years ago, I'm willing to go on record in saying that the S. E. of 1916 is as good as any team Lowell ever had among the amateurs. Give them Falls or Constantinian to drive. Devise out and I think you would travel far to find an amateur team outside the big college teams to beat them in a series of games. As it is, should the team develop a battling strength to match its holding skill, it would easily maintain its prestige and it will be remembered that this team consists of young men the most of whom work every day in the shops or mills.

City League Bowlers

The City league bowling tournament began a few weeks ago, and there have been some good contests; but it is a little early for all hands to get warmed up in good shape. Some of the teams present essentially the same lineups as last season. The Crestons are the same old doughty fire led by Walter Jewett with Tom Kelly as anchor man. The Kimball Systems represent the Kiltedge alters. A new comer, a team from Boyd's alley, appears. I hear it is intended to have this team comprised of "old timers." I guess they will bowl for the fun of settling. Being an old timer myself, I know. There are other new comers, but among them none which will wrest the honors from the older teams.

Samuel of Real Heather

The other day I ran across Mr. Frank J. O'Hare carrying in his hand a bunch of what he called Scotch heather which he said he gathered in Townsend, whether he and his friend McNabb went to get it. When flowering this has a beautiful pink blossoms, set what I saw to me as seeds were showing. Frank says that it grows abundantly on Nantucket where it seems to be "cornered" since it is seldom discovered elsewhere. I have heard that it grows, or has grown, in Tewksbury—just where I don't know. It's a very interesting bunch of it as hearty as the people of the land whence it takes its name. The American Scotch heather evidently grows taller and has more branches than that of Scotland. Yet its flower is similar and has, too, the same under shrub of evergreen. I was enabled to see this heather in person when they for Mr. O'Hare had shown me a sample of heather from Scotland which a friend gave him.

George Fellows is aided by the Ray State company's patrons of the Chelmsford Center line and his death is greeted by all who ever met him to be influenced by his happy and genial nature. He had good judgment and common sense methods in running his car; and, so far as I know, never had an accident.

HEARING FOR FITZGERALD

Secretary of State Langtry to Pass on His Protest at Position of Names on Ballot

BOSTON, Oct. 25.—Hon. John F. Fitzgerald, democratic candidate for United States senator, has protested to Attorney General Atwell at the position on the ballot of the names of the candidates for senator. Last night he was notified that he will be given precedence by Secretary of State Langtry today.

Mr. Fitzgerald contends that his name and that of Senator Lodge should be placed near the top of the ballot, instead of at the bottom. Mr. Fitzgerald's contention is that the office of United States senator is second in importance only to that of president. It was intimated last night that Mr. Fitzgerald would charge the republican leaders with responsibility for the position given his name and that since there is a John I. Fitzgerald, a candidate for the state senate, an effort was made to confuse the voters.

CHARITIES CONFERENCE OPENS THIS EVENING

ALL MEETINGS ARE OPEN TO
THE PUBLIC—MAYOR WILL
WELCOME VISITORS

The great charities conference which embraces activities all over the state and throughout New England will start this evening at Colonial hall with every indication of success. Other conferences have been held by the organization but that of the present time is the most important ever attempted. Whether in the number of out-of-town visitors, the personnel of the speakers or the subjects to be discussed, this will mark the highest point reached by organized charity propaganda in this section of the country.

Many of the out-of-town visitors will not be on hand until Thursday morning, but the various charities of Lowell are keenly alert to the events scheduled for the different sessions. All meetings are open to the public. The meeting this evening will be at 7:30. Mayor O'Donnell will make an address of welcome and Congressman Rogers will speak as president of the league. The formal address shall be by Bolton Hall, Esq., of the New York bar and the general topic shall be "The Abolition of Poverty."

The committee find that 150 visitors, the full capacity of the St. Anne's parish house, have registered to have reservations for the luncheon served there Thursday noon, and 106 have registered for Friday noon's luncheon at the same place. Besides this, 90 have registered as desiring reservations for the inter-city luncheon on Friday noon. This event is annual during the conferences and is usually a small gathering not over 50. That 90 have indicated an intention of attending this function is one indication that this conference at Lowell will exceed in numbers any previous one. Furthermore, registrations have been coming in from all over New England. Vermont is the only New England state not represented as yet. New York state will also have representatives here. From Massachusetts 100 or more cities and towns will have delegates present.

BODILY HOUSEKEEPING

By V. M. Pierce, M. D.
The subject of drinking water with meals has been misunderstood for a hundred years.
In recent years investigation of scientists such as Cannon, Grutznier, Pavlov, Fowler, Hawk, prove that abundance of water taken during digestion is necessary in good bodily housekeeping. Drink plenty of water with each meal. Do not drink ice-water at any time.
If your kidneys are sick, or you suffer with lumbago or rheumatism at times, pain in the back or back of the neck, take a little "Anuric" before meals. This can be found at any good drug store. Therefore my advice to young or old is, always drink plenty of pure water. And for long life occasionally take tablets of "Anuric" three or four times a day.

WANT WOMEN TO AID IN SECURING ENLISTMENTS

ADVERTISEMENT INSERTED BY COL.
GARDNER CALLS FOR "GIRLS FOR U. S. ARMY"

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., Oct. 25.—The United States army authorities here have advertised for women to aid in securing enlistments for the army. It became known today. The advertisement inserted by Lieut. Col. John H. Gardner, retired, who is in charge of the recruiting station here, called for "twelve girls for the United States army."

The advertisement specified that they must be "attractive, intelligent and industrious" and that the inducement that here was a chance to "make money and do your country a service," and concluded with the warning that "no triflers need apply."

Col. Gardner's plan is to install an exhibit which will demonstrate the life of a soldier from camp cooking to infantry drill. The women recruiting agents will work out of that station and will be paid $1 for every recruit they obtain.

FLOUR REACHES HIGHEST PRICE SINCE CIVIL WAR

CHICAGO, Oct. 25.—The wholesale price of high grade family flour was advanced to $10 a barrel today, the highest price since the Civil war. This is an increase of 30 cents within two days.

O'LEARY SEES MCCORMICK
NEW YORK, Oct. 25.—Vance C. McCormick, chairman of the democratic national committee, was served late yesterday with a summons and complaint in a second suit for libel brought against him by Jeremiah A. O'Leary, one of the heads of the American Independence Conference.

The action, which is for $100,000, is based on a statement Mr. McCormick is said to have given to the newspapers on Monday.

CITY HALL DECORATED

mission, Thursday, tomorrow, afternoon, at 2 o'clock, to consider the objection of Charles H. Slowey to the issuance of a certificate of nomination to Owen E. Brennan.

This meeting was originally called for today at 2 p. m., but on a request from Lowell was postponed until tomorrow. No summons has been issued, either to the city clerk or the board of registrars, and it is not certain that they will respond to the request of the ballot law commission.

Rid on Sidewalk
There was only one response to the recent bid of the supply department for 600 square yards of granite sidewalk, the bidder being Matthias F. Connor, whose price was $1.65 per square yard. The department considers this a very reasonable price and there being no competition the contract has been awarded to Mr. Connor. This sidewalk will be laid on Moody street in front of the property of the Emery heirs. The curbing was being torn out this morning in preparation for the work.

Hospital Foundation

Specifications for the excavation of the foundation of the hospital for contagious diseases were left in the office of the lands and buildings department this morning by Architect Henry F. Rourke, and bids on the work will be received by the city clerk.

called for without delay. This will mark the actual start of a project which has at last assumed practical shape.

The City Records
Henry E. Woods, state commissioner of records, is making his annual visit to Lowell for the purpose of inspecting the official records of the city departments. This morning he spoke warmly in praise of the present systems which, he said, he was instrumental in having adopted. It was hard to get the city started in keeping records properly, he said, but the work of the past year has been most satisfactory.

Expense Accounts
Many new expense accounts of candidates for office at the recent primaries have been turned in at the office of the city clerk, as required by law. Among them are the following:

George E. Marchand ..... $146.90
Thomas J. Corbett ..... 69.59
Adelard Berard ..... 65.05
Owen J. Brennan ..... 63.85
John J. O'Connell ..... 24.00
Arthur E. Judd ..... 6.75

Among those who returned "Nothing Paid or Promised," are Smith J. Adams, Joseph W. Farrell, John McClinton and John Jacob Rogers.

Strikers Still Out
It was stated at the water department office that the striking excavators who have quit work and demanded a raise from $2.25 a day to $2.50 are still out. Their number is given as 25 and they are from different gangs. Some have been working at Garden road, some at the Fairmount street extension and some at Woburn street. None of them reported for work this morning.

National Engineering Corp.
There is a feeling at city hall that the National Engineering Corp. which is erecting the new bridge at Pawtucketville may not be able to complete the work within the time specified. The contract calls for 120 working days, and actual work started on or about June 25. Excepting rainy days and high water or other causes which might have caused a temporary suspension of work, there have been 93 working days up to the present time.

Building Permits
The following permits for buildings and alterations have been issued today: Avila Sawyer, 12-14 Fleming st., for a two-family dwelling to cost $3500.

Jeremiah Bailey, 561-563 Rogers st., a two-family dwelling to cost $3400.
K. J. Lavioie, 5 J. M. Davis st., changing a one-family dwelling into two tenements. Estimated cost $500; Moise J. Allard, 1025 Varvian avenue, for enlarging home and adding rooms, cost $300; C. H. Hanson, Rock street, enlarging working space of blacksmith's shop, $50; Miss Lottie Joseph, 37 Grand street, to enlarge kitchen of home.

THREE ARRESTS TODAY

held in $1000 bonds for one week. Lawyer Goldman attempted to have the amount of the bail reduced, but Judge Knight refused, intimating that the charge of some of the cases might have to be made even more serious.

The police believe that the case is similar to two others that occurred here within the past two years, one on Jackson street and the other on Dunbar street. The three defendants arrested, Chumonas and the young girl involved were taken together to the Massachusetts mills. Although the girl denied this morning that she ever had any conversation with any one of them, it is thought that Chumonas planned to elope with her. The other two men, claim the police, were assisting Chumonas, and Cutas was the chauffeur.

The Chauffeur's Story

Coutas, who drives a machine in Boston, stated that he was hired by the other defendants to come to Lowell last evening. About 9 o'clock he drove the car to a dark spot near the corner of Moody and Colburn streets and awaited the approach of the Akron girl. After the school session was over, Athena, a cousin named Stavaria, Ravault and Evangelia Della came along together. Coutas, it is said, remained at the wheel and the other three men stepped onto the sidewalk and invited the girls to go for a ride. They declined the invitation, saying that they did not know the men.

Handkerchief Over Mouth

The three men on the sidewalk are said to have circled around Athena, and when she refused to go with them to have lifted her into the car. The girl tried to scream and they tied a handkerchief over her mouth. It is said. The girls' cousin, Stavaria, Ravault, attempted to assist her in escaping from the alleged abductors and her dress was badly torn.

The machine then disappeared up Moody street, over the bridge and out Mammoth road. The girl was still held in the machine with her mouth covered. The Lakewick party experienced some tire trouble which caused them to stop for a while. Here the handkerchief was removed from Athena's mouth while Coutas fixed the tire. A machine passed and the girl screamed for help. The occupants stopped and Chumonas, Antonios and Rouses became frightened and disappeared in the woods. Coutas then told the men in the second automobile that he would bring the girl safely home. He drove back to this city and was in the vicinity of Moody street when stopped by Patrolman Tsafaras. The latter had been given the number of the registration on the car that carried the girl away and he kept a keen watch of all passing machines. He told Coutas and took him in the police station where he was detained overnight. This morning the charge of assault and battery was preferred against him.

Revolver and Dagger

After hearing the story of the girl, the local police described the appearance of the three missing men to Nashua and other cities with the result that they were all arrested early this morning. A warrant for their arrest was granted in the local police court and Patrolman Tsafaras left for Nashua shortly before noon armed with the power.

The girl told the police that Chumonas carried a revolver and one of the other men had a dagger. The men asked her to be quiet and told her they would not harm her. From her story it seems that Chumonas was in love with her and tried to follow the custom of his people by running away with her. The others were assisting him, said the girl.

Coutas, the only one arraigned in court this forenoon, denied any part in the alleged abduction. He said that he was simply hired to drive the car and thought everything had been planned out with the girl. The police questioned him about seeing the girl forced into the car and relative to the handkerchief being tied over her face, but he talked but little on these matters.

DAY OFF IN THREE FOR HUB FIREMEN DENIED

the matter will be taken in the regular meeting of the council next Tuesday.

In the special meeting of the council, following the induction of Councilor Lohy, the order giving to the mayor authority to sell to the United States government, Gallup's Island for $150,000, was given its first reading. The council drew 352 jurors.

He also said that the numbers were not securely attached to the bottles and he had not any way of comparing the sample in which water was alleged to have been found with the duplicate sent to him. Inspector Masterson claimed that the bottles were all properly sealed when delivered. Mr. Fox appealed.

Shoppers Drivers Defaulted

Ten jitney drivers between Lowell and Lawrence were present on continuance charged with allowing automobiles to stand on Paige street in violation of the city ordinance. Daniel J. Donahue, counsel for the operators, said that a question of law relative to the cases would come up soon in the superior court and he asked for continuance of two weeks before disposition was made in the police court. This was granted. Three defendants, Edward J. Barrett, Lawrence P. Quinn and Emile Pelletier, failed to answer to their names and were defaulted.

Shoplifting Case
The fourth of the shoplifting cases resulting from arrests in the basement of the A. G. Pollard Co. on Saturday last was tried today when Mary Kronowski pleaded not guilty to a charge of stealing three patterns. The case was started Monday, but continued at the request of George H. Allard, counsel for the defendant. Today Harry Dunlap of the A. G. Pollard Co. and Sgt. Petrie corroborated part of Floorwalker Chretien's testimony. Mr. Chretien testified that he saw the woman take the patterns from the counter and put them in a bag. Mr. Dunlap saw the property in the bag and the woman admitted to Sgt. Petrie that she took it, but denied that she intended to steal. The defendant said that she was going to give the money to a young lady clerk. Lawyer Allard argued that the woman had five children and that her husband is home as the result of an accident. But for these facts Judge Enright said he would have sent the woman to jail for her persistence in denying the truth. He imposed a fine of $15.

Guilty of Larceny
Larceny of $30 from William M. Waterman of the Singer Sewing Machine Co. was the charge preferred against J. P. Marquette when he was called before the court. He pleaded guilty. Mr. Waterman said that on Oct. 16 he sent

Marquette out collecting. He made two collections, one of $20 and the other $10, and failed to turn over the money. The case was continued until tomorrow for disposition.

Neglected His Mother
John Miller pleaded guilty to a complaint accusing him of failing to support his aged mother since Sept. 1. Miller claimed that he has been out of work for several weeks, but agreed to pay $2 weekly hereafter and he was placed on probation on condition that he keeps his promise.

The Case of Clarence H. Armstrong
Violation of the automobile laws, was continued three weeks.

Out in the Cold
Exillas Paquette left his home and wife in Tewksbury yesterday morning and went to work. He returned home at night with a "tag" on and found that his wife had moved. She did not tell him where she was going so he was left alone in the cold. Exillas raised such a disturbance that Constable Farmer was called and he arrested him. Paquette promised to abstain from the use of liquor and was given a suspended sentence of five months in the house of correction.

For Drunkenness
Edwin A. Shaw and Mary Armstrong were each sentenced to three months in jail. George F. Donnelly was committed to the state farm and three suspended sentences were imposed. There were six releases.

COPELAND MURDER TRIAL
GALVESTON, Tex., Oct. 25.—Clarence F. Hall of St. Paul, Minn., who was William Black's business agent up to the day the anti-Catholic lecturer was killed in Marshall, Tex., again was on the witness stand when court reconvened today in the case of John Copeland, charged with killing Black.

Hall testified yesterday that after the shooting at Marshall, in which he killed John Rogers, an associate of Copeland, he said that his "only regret" was he had not in the past killed everybody that visited Black to protest against his lectures.

THE HUGHES CAMPAIGN SMASHED

One of the charges made by the republican party early in this campaign, but subsequently abandoned as indefensible, was, that after the European war this country will be flooded with the manufactured products of the countries that have suffered from the war.

Those who have even the faintest idea of the impoverished condition in which these countries will be left after the war, can realize that it will take them ten years, nay perhaps twenty years, to return to the industrial conditions that prevailed before the war. Where will be the factories, the men or the ships necessary for an exportation business?

The fact is, that after the war these countries will be in a state of exhaustion and impoverishment akin to paralysis. The period of reconstruction will necessarily be a long one and until the leveled cities and towns are rebuilt and a new generation arises to do the work, we need not fear anything from the competition of the countries now engaged in war.

Yet this has been one of the chief reasons put forward in favor of Mr. Hughes' election on the ground that the period following the war would bring up more serious problems than did the war and all its momentous issues.

From this supposed issue the republicans jumped to the tariff which a permanent commission will take out of politics and then to the Mexican question which is being settled by a joint commission. Finally the Hughes campaign rests upon the charge that the Adamson bill was a sop to the railroad men and unnecessary; yet it was in reality a measure designed to save this nation from a calamity, not adopted merely to please the Brotherhoods.

Mr. Hughes is now going about trying to assure the people that he is not for war, and denying that he is opposed to the eight-hour day, while other speakers in his behalf take the stand that the Adamson bill is only a bluff which will accomplish nothing for the railroad men. Thus, there is not a single issue brought forward by the republicans, on which they have not hedged in the most laughable manner.

The question then arises, what is left of the republican campaign, and as we are about to answer—"Nothing," we are reminded that in recent developments in New York Mr. Hughes appears to have brought out a "Barehead" to help finish him at the polls. The fact is, the Hughes campaign has been smashed to pieces, and nothing now remains but to await election day to give President Wilson a sweeping endorsement.

THE HYPHENATE VOTE

The New York World brings out in very forcible language the fact that while Candidate Hughes is pandering to the hyphenate vote as represented by the German-American committee that made certain demands of him yet, Theodore Roosevelt is appealing to the pro-British element of the electorate. Thus they hope to draw to Mr. Hughes the support of both elements; but it will be a case of between two stools, etc.

Mr. Hughes says he made no compact with the delegates committee that waited upon him, but it is alleged that the demand made was in the nature of an ultimatum intimating that if Mr. Hughes' speeches proved satisfactory to the voters represented by the committee, he would get their votes, not otherwise.

It is shown, however, that after the interview with Hughes, steps were taken by those represented to organize certain districts in support of Hughes which would tend to indicate that the interview itself was satisfactory.

The World closes a long editorial on this matter with the following statement:

"The Hughes-German conference again emphasizes an issue which the American people can ignore only at their future peril. In this campaign Woodrow Wilson is the American candidate for president of the United States and Charles E. Hughes is the hyphenate candidate. It is Mr. Hughes himself who has made that issue, and if Mr. Hughes is elected, Germany will have a right to celebrate President Wilson's defeat as a German victory in the United States."

This is undoubtedly one of the most startling incidents of the campaign as it shows up a scheme on the part of Mr. Hughes' supporters to punish President Wilson for defending the rights of this nation and forcing Germany to abandon her policy of sinking merchant ships without warning.

POLITICAL ENROLLMENT

The question of political enrollment will be one of the referenda on the ballot at the coming election. The people have had a trial of non-enrollment since its enactment, and it has worked well, there being no complaints except from republicans who claim that it allows democrats in certain cases to dilute nominations on the republican side. It is possible that in rare cases, members of either party might take part in caucus fights of the other party; but we do not believe that this remote possibility should cause the repeal of the law which enables every man to vote without undergoing the ordeal of declaring whether he is a democrat, a republican or a socialist. Democrats in general are in favor of the law for the reason stated as there have been cases in which employers have attempted to dilute how their employees should vote. Under the non-enrollment law every voter can exercise the franchise both at the primaries and final elections without declaring to what party he belongs. That is as it should be. The law should remain as it is.

THE RUMANIAN BLUNDER

Rumania has paid the penalty of going out on her own account on a mission of conquest in Transylvania instead of co-operating with the entente allies to break Germany's cen-

on a question of the proper interpretation of the law.

The agreement between England and Germany to exchange prisoners of 45 years or over may have been brought about through intervention of the Vatican, or let us hope it may indicate a softening of the bitter feeling existing between the two nations and that must be the forerunner of peace.

The city of Cambridge exercises such a strict censorship over picture shows that it has barred "The Birth of a Nation." Many picture dramas immeasurably worse have been shown here although severely criticized.

Is it the policy of Supt. Welch of the police department to report conditions as bad and cast the blame upon some of his subordinates or upon the mayor?

SEEN AND HEARD

It is mighty hard at times to keep the commandments.

Both Soldiers Happy

Major-General Sir Sam Hughes, the Dominion minister of defense, has been telling a good yarn concerning a conversation he overheard between two Canadians while on a flying visit to the western front.

The men had evidently met unexpectedly, and were obviously old acquaintances.

"Hallo, old man!" ejaculated one of them. "Why, what on earth are you doing over here?"

"Well," replied the other, "I have neither wife nor children, and am fond of war." But what brings you here?"

"Just the opposite reason," said the other speaker frankly. "I have both wife and children, and I like peace."

Her Night Out

"John, dear, you're not going out to-night, are you?"

"Why, no, I kind of half promised the boys I'd drop around for a game of pool."

"Oh, John, I wish you wouldn't. It's dreadfully lonesome here when you're out."

"Why, lovely. I had no idea you missed me as much as all that."

"I do, John. Of course, I don't want to deprive you of your pleasures, but do wish you'd stay at home more than you do."

"Very well, dear. If you feel that way about it, I'll stay in tonight."

"John, you're just the best husband in all the world. Would you mind taking care of baby while I run around to the moving picture show?"—Herald-Tribune.

How Kipling Changes

Like many other famous writers, Kipling is not a bit like what the public imagine him to be, and people are sometimes a little disappointed when they first meet him to find him so quiet and reserved. On one occasion a gushing young lady admirer, who had waited for years for an introduction to the great writer, was at last lucky enough to be introduced to him.

"You," she cried, somewhat rudely, "you—you are Kipling?"

Naturally Kipling felt embarrassed. "Yes," he answered modestly.

"But I thought," continued the young lady, "I thought you were—oh, how shall I say it—something quite different!"

"Oh, I am," Kipling hastened to tell her gravely, and in a very confidential tone—"I am, madam, only, you see, this is my day off!"

No Admittance

Judge Isaac Franklin Russell, chief justice of the court of special sessions of New York, has to make a personal supervision of penal institutions, among them insane asylums, as one of his official duties. He went to the White Plains asylum recently on a tour of inspection and found a strange guard at the entrance, an old friend of his having been discharged.

Judge Russell told the guard he wished to be admitted.

"Can't do it," was the answer.

"But I have business here," said the judge.

"I come from New York."

"We've got 'em in here now who came from there," answered the other.

"I'm afraid you do not know who I am," ventured the judge getting tired of the guard's belligerent attitude.

"I am chief justice of the court of special sessions!"

"Cut it out!" broke in the other.

"We've got three men inside now who say they're chief justices!"

A teacher in one of the public schools of this city has been making strenuous efforts to teach the rudiments of politeness.

On a question of the proper interpretation of the law.

The agreement between England and Germany to exchange prisoners of 45 years or over may have been brought about through intervention of the Vatican, or let us hope it may indicate a softening of the bitter feeling existing between the two nations and that must be the forerunner of peace.

The city of Cambridge exercises such a strict censorship over picture shows that it has barred "The Birth of a Nation." Many picture dramas immeasurably worse have been shown here although severely criticized.

Is it the policy of Supt. Welch of the police department to report conditions as bad and cast the blame upon some of his subordinates or upon the mayor?

It is mighty hard at times to keep the commandments.

Both Soldiers Happy

Major-General Sir Sam Hughes, the Dominion minister of defense, has been telling a good yarn concerning a conversation he overheard between two Canadians while on a flying visit to the western front.

The men had evidently met unexpectedly, and were obviously old acquaintances.

"Hallo, old man!" ejaculated one of them. "Why, what on earth are you doing over here?"

"Well," replied the other, "I have neither wife nor children, and am fond of war." But what brings you here?"

"Just the opposite reason," said the other speaker frankly. "I have both wife and children, and I like peace."

Her Night Out

"John, dear, you're not going out to-night, are you?"

"Why, no, I kind of half promised the boys I'd drop around for a game of pool."

"Oh, John, I wish you wouldn't. It's dreadfully lonesome here when you're out."

"Why, lovely. I had no idea you missed me as much as all that."

"I do, John. Of course, I don't want to deprive you of your pleasures, but do wish you'd stay at home more than you do."

"Very well, dear. If you feel that way about it, I'll stay in tonight."

MOB SURROUNDS CHICOPEE COURT DURING TRIAL

CHICOPEE, Oct. 25.—The police are making a strenuous effort to connect Francis Ducharme, confessed slayer of 3-year-old Leona Kaczar, with the slayer of Lillian Begley in Holyoke about a year ago.

Conflicting Tales

Ducharme denies any knowledge of the murder, but the police are certain that strong circumstantial evidence will link the man to the slaying. He tells conflicting stories of his whereabouts a year ago and the police assert they expect to prove he was in the town when the murder took place.

He was arraigned in the police court yesterday morning and the formal plea of not guilty was entered. He waived a hearing and was held for the grand jury. A crowd estimated at 1,000 persons gathered about the court house and threatened violence against the prisoner.

Mob Pleads For Man

Fifteen police, with drawn clubs, were on guard, but the mob was unruly. "Give him to us," they shouted. At the conclusion of the hearing the patrol wagon was backed up to the door and a lane cleared for the prisoner.

While the attention of the mob was held by the patrol wagon Ducharme was taken out the rear door of the court house and hurried to Springfield in a fast automobile.

Taken to Jail

He was photographed in the Springfield police headquarters and then removed to the Hampden county jail.

The funeral of the little girl was held yesterday morning in St. Stanislaw's church and she was buried in St. Stanislaw's cemetery. Hundreds of school children thronged the church and the tiny white casket was nearly hidden with flowers.

BANQUET, BIG SUCCESS

Anniversary Committee Reports on Banquet at Regular Meeting of Court Merrimack

There was a large attendance at the regular meeting of Court Merrimack, Foresters of America, in Grafton hall last night. Chief Ranger Thomas E. Kelley presided. Two applications for membership were received and one candidate was elected. The anniversary committee reported that the banquet held on October 10th was a great success, both from a financial and social standpoint.

Interesting remarks were made by Thomas F. Kelley, James O'Hearn and Arthur Bernhardt. At the close of the meeting a social hour was enjoyed.

S. H. Hines lodge, 55, K. of P., met in regular session last night. Daniel F. Starkey reported on the committee meeting held in Lawrence on Oct. 19, to consider plans for the reception to be tendered Supreme Chancellor Hon. John J. Brown at Lawrence early in December. Visitors were present from Lawrence and lodges in New Hampshire. Bro. Arthur F. Estes, who has recently returned from the Mexican border, where he served in Co. ## LEPROSY INCREASING IN CIVILIZED COUNTRIES

DR. FREDERICK HOFFMAN PRESENTS STATISTICS BEFORE HEALTH ASSOCIATION

CINCINNATI, O., Oct. 25.—Leprosy is apparently increasing in civilized countries, according to Dr. Frederick L. Hoffman, statistician of The Prudential Insurance company, who presented today before the American Public Health association the results of a study of the statistics of this disease.

Dr. Hoffman said that a conservative estimate of the number of cases in this country would be 200 and that, as shown by the returns from the state of Louisiana, the disease is apparently on the increase.

According to his investigations at leper settlements throughout the western hemisphere, and the urgency of a more intelligent study of the statistical aspects for the purpose of ascertaining the essential contributory factors, Dr. Hoffman said an attempt was being made to bring together by uniform and standardized methods, the leprosy statistics for at least the principal leper settlements throughout the world, so as to ascertain with greater accuracy the prevailing types of the disease, the average duration before apprehension, and the average length of after-treatment.

He estimated the known lepers in the world at not fewer than 2,000,000, of which the large majority were in the far east. Including the United States insular possessions, he estimates that the number of lepers subject to American control is not much smaller than 5,000.

Dr. Hoffman said he was strongly in favor of effective segregation and more humane treatment, especially in the case of isolated lepers apprehended in interstate traffic, and for which at the present time, inadequate provision was made in the majority of cases, and adequate provision only in the case of those or four states in the absence of complete federal leper supervision and control. He suggested the establishment of a federal leprosy, in conformity to a bill introduced in the United States senate. That this measure had not become a law was regrettable, he said, as meanwhile the present conditions of "ill-considered treatment and lack of proper care" would have to continue.

MISSING FROM HOME

Smith Boy Has Been Missing Since Saturday—Parents Anxious As to His Whereabouts

Louis J. Smith, 15-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Smith, has been missing from his home, 833 Central street, since Saturday afternoon. As far as could be learned the boy was without money and his parents cannot account for his sudden disappearance.

When last seen he was attired in long khaki trousers, blue serge Norfolk coat and white checked cap. He had been employed at the Odd Fellows building in Middlesex street and upon completing his duties Saturday afternoon returned to his home where he changed his clothing and then went out.

It was thought that he might have gone to visit relatives in Amesbury or Newburyport, but inquiry at those places failed to bring forth any information relative to his whereabouts.

Interesting stories of his experiences. The committee in charge of the observance of the 45th anniversary of the lodge reported progress.

CONDITIONS HAVE IMPROVED IN THE HOTELS

The license commission held a private conference last evening with Supt. Welch and Liquor Inspectors Cooney and Holland of the liquor squad at which a review of the conditions found in the hotels last Sunday was taken. At the conclusion of the conference it was stated that a great improvement was noted by the liquor inspectors in their tour Sunday and that there are still some places where changes for the better can be made. There were no complaints brought up last evening, however.

A communication from the city clerk was received by the board, calling attention to an amendment of section 1. City Ordinances, regarding hawking and peddling, approved July 27, 1897, amended Dec. 30, 1898, and further amended Oct. 11, 1916, to go into effect Oct. 21, 1916. The amendment requires that hawkers or peddlers of fish shall be licensed and reads as follows: "No person shall hawk or peddle fish until he has been duly licensed and has recorded his name and residence with the license commission of the city of Lowell and has been assigned a number by said commission to be worn in such a manner as said commission shall prescribe. The fee for such license shall be $10 and the license shall continue in force for one year from the date thereof."

The following minor licenses were granted: Sunday permit: Rudolph J. Cuddeford, 691 School street. Public amusement for dancing: Fred N. Wier, Grafton hall, 212 Merrimack street. Common victualler: William J. Connell, 561 Lawrence street. Public amusement for theatre, J. R. Cawley, Academy of Music, 141 Dutton street. To sell frankfurters on the public streets: David Hartnet, 19 Washington street. Express: Chester H. Zhumer, 33 Fourth street. Junk collector: Samuel Jackson, 185 Howard street. The Sunday permit held by Joseph Gamache was surrendered and cancelled and reissued to Thomas A. Sheehan at the same premises.

CANDIDATE MANSFIELD ATTACKS STATE LOBBY

SAYS POPULAR LEGISLATION HAS BEEN KILLED BY REPUBLICANS—APPEALS TO WORKERS

BOSTON, Oct. 25.—Frederick W. Mansfield, democratic candidate for governor, in addresses delivered in Southbridge, Webster and Oxford last evening, extolled the democratic party for its endorsement of labor bills and criticised the republican party for fostering a pernicious lobby at the state house that killed bills in the interest of the people.

Mr. Mansfield will this afternoon address the Wilson Democratic club of Boston University Law school. Members of the club will this evening take the stump in conjunction with the orators of the Harvard Wilson club, and will speak in several cities of the state. The Mansfield wage earners' flying-wedge committee last night reported that it had issued an appeal to the 1400 trade unions of the state, urging them to co-operate in the wage earners' effort to elect Mansfield as governor. It is said the unions represent 180,000 members.

"The record of the democratic party for labor has been a splendid one," Mr. Mansfield declared at his rallies last night. "The workmen's compensation law is perfect. It needs amendment, I am in favor of extending this law, so that it will benefit the workmen more than is now the case."

"Injured employees should be allowed the privilege of choosing their own physician, and should not be compelled to go to the doctor chosen for them by the insurance company."

"It will probably be difficult to change the law or secure any humanitarian legislation, because of the existence of the lobby. The lobby exists today in as violent a form as ever. Matthew Hale of the progressive party has publicly accused the speaker of the house and the president of the senate of being absolutely under the domination of two notorious lobbyists."

"Neither the speaker of the house nor the president of the senate has replied to the charges, nor have the lobbyists, whose names were mentioned. The republican party makes no reply to the accusation. Nor does Gov. McCall come to the defence of his party."

"In view of the fact that certain members of the legislature have publicly stated that Gov. McCall sent for them and asked them to defeat the pure milk bill, it is very likely that Gov. McCall finds it difficult to deny lobbying."

"We will never have pure government in Massachusetts until the lobby is extirpated."

T.R. WOULD COMPEL ALL TO SERVE IN ARMY

DENVER, Col., Oct. 25.—Pleas for universal military training and criticism of President Wilson for "debanchery or the civil service" characterized the address here yesterday by Colonel Roosevelt, the principal one of a trio of speeches made in the course of his one-day stay in Denver.

Col. Roosevelt urged that compulsory training would redound to the benefit of the nation, by increasing democracy, developing American youth physically and mentally, and aiding the country's social and industrial development. His criticism of President Wilson included a declaration that the executive had "exchanged offices for political support."

Col. Roosevelt advocated repeal of the Hay Mills bill and the restoration of the militia to its former status. He cited Switzerland's development as an instance of what compulsory military training would do in developing a country "physically, mentally and morally."

The colonel divided his afternoon speech, which primarily was to the women of the state, between an appeal to them to vote for Charles E. Hughes for president and a sharp criticism of the administration's foreign and Mexican policy. He declared the passage of a constitutional amendment enfranchising women was the most practical and expedient goal for the suffragists now, and asserted Mr. Hughes would maintain his announced stand in favor of this amendment.

REPUBLICAN CHARGE IS OFFICIALLY DENIED

WASHINGTON, Oct. 25.—W. Jett Lauck, economic expert and chief statistician for the railroad brotherhoods, issued a statement today disposing of the claim made by republicans that train service employees in the passenger service will suffer a reduction of pay on account of the Adamson eight-hour law.

Referring to reports published in the morning papers that passenger engineers would be paid by the hour instead of on a mileage basis after Jan. 1, Mr. Lauck said:

"The Adamson law does not substitute hours for distance or miles as a basis of payment. By the terms of the Adamson law, eight is substituted for ten hours in existing agreements between the railroads and their employees. This is the express provision of the law and President Wilson specifically so stated in his address to congress."

"The basis of payment remains absolutely unchanged in this respect. Employees may take either hours or miles for any trip, as has been the custom hitherto. Under the provisions of the Adamson law rates of pay to men on passenger trains could not be reduced."

FORD PAYS MEN'S WAGES TO WOMEN EMPLOYEES

AUTO MANUFACTURER DECLARES INCREASE INSURED BY PRES. WILSON

LONG BRANCH, N. J., Oct. 25.—Henry Ford, the automobile manufacturer, announced after a conference with President Wilson yesterday that, as the result of an "inspiring" talk he had with the president two weeks ago, he had established the women workers in his plants upon the same pay basis as the men, which means that most of them will receive at least $5 a day.

Inspired by Wilson

Mr. Ford authorized the following statement: "I had the pleasure to inform President Wilson yesterday afternoon that I had established the women workers of my plant at Detroit and in the branch factories in other cities upon a pay equality with the men workers. I took this step following my conference with the president more than two weeks ago and I did so because of the inspiring talk I had with Mr. Wilson on the forward movement among womanhood. This principle is now in operation and I look forward with complete confidence to its vindication."

Mr. Ford came here last yesterday to show the president advertisements supporting the Wilson administration which he plans to have put "dred prior to the election. When he stepped off the train and was asked why he came to Shadow Lawn he replied: "To get on the Wilson band wagon."

The Pictures are Before You CHOOSE!

"NAP-A-MINIT"

Used by Dr. Gagnon in His Superior PORCELAIN DENTISTRY

Take a good look at these pictures—they tell the story of TWO KINDS OF DENTISTRY. The left hand picture is of a man being treated in the old, harsh method employed in this day by many dentists. Note the rigid position of the patient as he sits upright, gripping the doctor's arm, hindering him in his work, and making his own pain necessarily greater. Every nerve in his body is on edge—every muscle tense—he is indeed the personification of fear and pain. THIS IS DENTISTRY AS I DO NOT DO IT.

Now turn to the picture on your right. Here you see restfulness and relaxation, a patient that feels no pain, yet is in control of every other sense. He can talk and hear and watch the doctor, unimpeded, do his very best work. This is an example of DENTISTRY AS I DO PRACTICE.

IT. This is what "Nap-a-Minit" has done for all my PATIENTS. "Nap-a-Minit" is a positive pain destroyer and absolutely eliminates all pain in dentistry. With its use, one may have teeth and roots extracted, nerves removed, cavities prepared and filled, crowns and bridge-work inserted and every conceivable kind of dental operation performed without the slightest fear or dread because IT WILL NOT HURT.

Now that you have seen the two pictures and know the story that they tell, it is up to you to CHOOSE if you have dental work to be done. Will you have pain and harsh treatment or will you have "Nap-a-Minit" and no pain at all? There is little doubt about your answer and when you come here you will find the greatest service and value-giving dental offices in New England.

WHAT THE LOCAL AUTO DEALERS ARE DOING

ANNOUNCEMENTS OF INTERESTS THEM OVER

Mr. John W. Carrol of Driscoll, a well known chauffeur for the past season with the Pitts Auto Supply, has purchased a 7-passenger Auburn touring car from the Auburn Motor Co. on Thorndike street, this city.

Automobile manufacturers say that fall is the logical time to buy an automobile. The winter months are the time during which a car renders the maximum of genuine service.

Coming—the automobile show.

The motorists in this section of the country, in rapidly increasing numbers, are becoming enthusiastic for all-year touring.

Next Saturday there will be another opportunity for the speed artists on the track at Sheephead Bay speedway. The followers of this sport at a higher pitch of excitement than previous rallies. They expect 104, 105 and even 120 miles an hour to be the achievements of the speed cars. Dario Resta and his Peugeot will be a prominent factor of the championship contests, in the special 100-mile and 50-mile events.

The Lowell Motor Mart is taking steps to advise motorists to prepare the car and themselves for the cool and cold fall and winter driving. There are many ways in which special caution must be taken, and other ways in which it may be taken for comfort. Stephen Rochette, prop., has prepared his auto supply house to meet the season's requirements by stocking up full-ly on all articles, supplies and accessories which the motorist may call for. Some invaluable suggestions are made in his display in this automobile section.

Ervin E. Smith Co. today calls the attention of automobile owners to a product which is used in cars to keep them looking fresh and bright. It will not injure the finish of a car. Without trouble, oil, tar and grease stains are removed by means of this same polish.

Peter J. McKenna, of this city, announces the opening of McKenna's Automobile Repair Station on Broadway near School street. Mr. McKenna makes this as one step upward in his business career, being the former owner of the Tremont street and first street garages. With his long experience in the automobile field he is no doubt an expert, and extends the value of his ability to all his patrons and patrons-to-be. No one will be allowed to accept his work and be dissatisfied. His many personal and business friends are wishing him continued success.

An automobile's "heart" became part of a physician's figure of speech one day recently in a small gathering of motorists in Chicago and with it he brought to attention the vital importance of the motor.

"There is one portion of the human body with which surgeons tamper little," he said. "That is the heart. It is too vital. It cannot be stopped for tinkering. The well balanced heart is the engine of the automobile. It doesn't matter how many new-gaws a car carries, if the motor is faulty you have no car."

Geo. R. Dana, of the Cadillac agency and garage on East Merrimack street, is displaying some interesting values in used cars. Even more than at any other time of the year is this particular season the one of opportunities for those contemplating the purchase of a used car. Values, of course, should be weighed, but this is an unusual occasion at a convenient and reliable sales depot to consider these items. Mr. Dana says that these cars will exceed the expectations of the most critical, the details as well as the general features being meritorious.

AUTOMOBILE QUESTION BOX

NOTE—In these columns every Wednesday we will give expert advice to motorists on how to repair and operate their machines. Automobile readers of THE SUN are invited to send questions or problems to the editor. Such questions will receive attention in due time. Address all communications: Automobile Editor, Sun, Lowell, Mass. Communications must bear the signature and address of the sender, though not for publication but as a guarantee of good faith.

Motoring Department, The Sun—Will you kindly advise through your column, if possible, the best speed records of the Excelsior and Harley-Davidson motorcycles? We would also like to be informed as to comparative durability, etc.

Ans.—For speed records it will be best to write to the manufacturers themselves. As to comparative durability we are not in a position to inform you. It is the policy of this department not to pass on the merits or demerits of any article on the market.

Motoring Department, The Sun—The weather point in dispute, please let us know if it is possible to crank an engine if the starting handle is broken or missing. Of course, we mean where there is no self-starter on the car.

Ans.—If the car is on the side of a hill, put gears in a speed, throw out clutch, release brake to get car in motion and let it clutch to crank engine. If the car is on level road and help is at hand, have car pushed along with driver in seat, have gears in high speed and clutch out. Start car forward and let it clutch suddenly. When driver is alone he can back up one rear wheel, put gears in high speed, and crank engine.

Motoring Department, The Sun—I have been advised to change my tires around from back to front as they wear faster. Please let me know which tire wears most, and how they should be changed around.

Ans.—New tires should be placed at the point of greatest strain, which is on the rear wheels. The tire which wears fastest is the right rear. Next comes the left rear, the right front, and the left front. A new tire should be placed on the right rear wheel and then moved forward in the order indicated above.

Motoring Department, The Sun—I have a light motorcycle, using bicycle tires. I have trouble with the rear tire. The tire seems to cut it. Can you tell the cause and suggest a remedy? If you have a license to run an automobile, can you run a motorcycle without getting a motorcycle operator's license? Please advise. S. G. D.

Ans.—Remove the tire and inspect

Ans.—The spark plug gap should be small as it is difficult for a spark to jump through gasoline vapor under high compression. We adjust vibrator to give a spark that will jump one-fourth inch in the air so that it will be able to jump one-thirty-second inch in the cylinder. An auxiliary gap outside the cylinder adds very little to the resistance of the circuit, whereas an increase in the size of the spark gap would stop ignition entirely.

Motoring Department, The Sun—What is the best book on the market on starting and lighting system?

Ans.—We cannot recommend a book on any article, but your bookseller can get you any book on the market. A good way would be for you to write to the manufacturers of the different systems, as they all issue instruction books which are full of valuable information.

Motoring Department, The Sun—I have a carburetor that drips gasoline so badly that I have to turn it off at the tank after using. I have taken the float out and can hear the gasoline inside when I shake it. Would this cause the trouble? If so, how can I get the gasoline out without damaging the float? I live some distance from a repair shop and should like to do the work myself.

Ans.—The float is evidently a metal one, and one of the seams has opened slightly. Hold a match to it to vaporize inside. A tiny point of flame will show the leak. Enlarge this by twisting the point of a penknife on it, or open slightly with a nail. Pour out gasoline. Plug hole with piece of match. Gasoline soaks into wood, making a tight joint. Later you may pull out plug and solder lightly, using as little solder as possible. Test by holding float in flame.

Motoring Department, The Sun—In a month or two I intend to overhaul my six-cylinder motor. Would it be advisable to change the old piston rings for "leak proof" rings? Would the improvement in the operation of the motor justify the extra expense? C. V. L.

Ans.—There are several "leak proof" rings on the market. They overcome the disadvantage of the old rings in compression to a great extent. It would be well to put one at the top of each piston, but a complete set would be somewhat expensive. If the rings are badly worn they should certainly be replaced. Some owners make a practice of replacing broken rings with "leak proof" rings. By this means the cost is distributed over a longer time.

Motoring Department, The Sun—My car is a — with a — carburetor. Recently the carburetor caught fire and I had trouble putting it out. I am sure I have been in dread of a fire ever since. Please tell me what causes a carburetor to catch fire so that I can avoid the danger in future. K. B. C.

Ans.—Popping back at carburetor may be due to lean mixture, leaky inlet valve, short circuit, distributor shifted up incorrectly, or intercooler shifted on shaft. If there is much gasoline under the carburetor due to excessive priming, it may catch fire. Go over the above points carefully. Fasten a fine wire screen over air inlet or extend inlet pipe by flexible tube at least a foot upward and away from carburetor.

Motoring Department, The Sun—My Ford car has begun to miss explosions recently. I have cleaned spark plugs and adjusted the gaps to one-sixteenth inch. Compression and lubrication seem to be good. The current goes to the plugs, but doesn't seem very strong. Can this be the trouble? G. B. G.

Ans.—It is evident that the vibrators need adjusting. Disconnect one wire at a time from spark plug, placing end not more than one-fourth inch from engine so that spark can jump. Put switch on battery and crank engine until timer makes contact for coil you are adjusting. Turn adjusting screw down until a white hot spark is produced. Continue with remaining vibrators. If you have no battery, run engine on remaining cylinders while adjusting. Try spark plug gap at one-thirty-second inch or less. One-sixteenth inch is too wide.

over the fire chains carefully. Take out all cross chains that are worn and replace them with new ones. The best practice is to put in a new grip at every other place, making the chain half new and half old. If the weak grip breaks, the one next to it is strong, and will hold, whereas if all had been weak several might break at once. Use the grips you take off to replace those that break.

Sometimes a driver says his magneto always misses when it rains. A magneto may be short circuited by rain getting into it, but do not condemn the magneto before looking elsewhere. Distributor and spark plug terminals are not covered with insulation, and so may leak current. Short circuits may develop in secondary wires. Spark plug cores may be cracked. If no faults can be discovered outside of the magneto, put a leather cover over it and end your troubles.

A source of noise that is frequently overlooked is the case covering the timing gears. It should be kept filled with lubricant, but if it becomes empty it acts as a sounding board and intensifies the noise of the gears.

If the motor has no priming cups it will be hard to start when cold weather comes. Get a set of spark plugs with priming cups attached. Remember that either is the best substance for priming, as it will evaporate readily no matter how cold the engine may be.

When any part gets rusty, put kerosene on it, but let it stand awhile and then wipe off. Kerosene is useful in removing rust, but it will also cause rust. After removing kerosene put oil on parts or wipe with oily rag. Crude oil is also very good to remove rust.

THOSE HEADLIGHTS AGAIN

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 25.—Right of way and glaring headlights are the two things which stand out ahead of everything else in the uniform traffic problem, according to Chairman O. I. Yellow of the A.A.A. legislative board, which has taken up this large subject in a determined effort to bring about a country-wide understanding.

Evidence that all of the states are interested in this plan of the organization is apparent in the letters being received by Chairman Yellow from Washington concerning comment by Secretary of State I. M. Hoover.

"The American Automobile association is certainly on the right track now, and if you will compile something that can be made uniform throughout the United States I know of no reason why it could not be passed in each one of the several states. Send us something and we will try and put it in the motor vehicle code at the next session of the Washington state legislature."

GEORGE R. DANA

In any motor car company's argument to the buyer—this year, we see designs being changed so that most cars at least have the low appearance. When the first model low car appeared at the show last January, people began to revise their ideas of what a low car really was. They were more accustomed to high, top-heavy cars, but soon recognized the advantages of having the running boards with a easy step height and the floor boards only slightly more than 24 inches from the ground. Closed body design has been greatly affected by the tendency towards lowness, and this winter it seems that the closed car must be low to be in favor.

At this season of the year when so many of the automobile companies are announcing improved changes in the construction of their product, some of the oldest concerns of widely established reputations are taking a keen sense of satisfaction in the realization that the extensively advertised "new" features of many models have long been a standard part of their own production. This is one of the reasons why prospective buyers are more considerate regarding minor features.

PRIZE CAR FOR LOWELL
Recently over 20 makes of cars were entered in competition for the favor of the thousands at the fair at Delaware county, Ohio.

The cars were driven slowly along the race course and were judged for general appearances, as well as beauty of body design and finish, as they passed the grandstand.

An Allen "Classic" (the product of the Allen Motor Co., Fostoria, Ohio, finished in the new "Classic Brown," was awarded the first place, regardless of the fact that this car was competing against several that cost twice as much. Practically every well known make of car, priced under $1000, was entered.

The Allen "Classic" announced on this page by the Auburn Motor Car Co. of Lowell, as a specially finished model, is mechanically the same as the Standard Allen "22." This "Classic" is available in three attractive and different shades, which have been given the names of "Classic

Brown," "Classic Blue" and "Classic Gray."

They have met with unusual success in the short time they have been available, and unquestionably, have struck a new note in automobile finish and design.

FARMERS OF MANTOULIN ISLAND HAVE DEVISED NOVEL PLAN—300 MEN TO PARTICIPATE

GORE BAY, N. S., Oct. 25.—Farmers of Mantoulin Island have devised a novel plan to rid the island of boars and wolves which for some time have been killing sheep and cattle in large numbers. C. J. Campbell of Burpee today announced that arrangements had been completed whereby he will head 300 men in a drive on the wild animals. Scattered across the island from the north to the south shore, the little army, which will carry horns and whistles as well as rifles, will march forward in a steady line to the peninsula at Mississauga. They will make all the noise possible, hoping to frighten the beasts into heading right to the narrow strip of land where they are confident that they can corner and slaughter them. Fires will be built at night all along the line. It is figured that the drive will occupy three days.

BOXING, GOLF
BASEBALL IN NEW YORK

NEW YORK, Oct. 25.—The old question of Sunday baseball for New York, which has been brought up time and again in past years, is to be brought to an issue this winter, according to the plans for a campaign started in Brooklyn.

It is planned to present a bill at the coming session of the legislature which for the first time will be given adequate support. Those in charge of the campaign intend to back up their bill with an expression of sentiment from the fans, so that the fans themselves, who constitute a substantial part of the voting population, may have a chance to determine whether they want Sunday ball or not.

Almost every year a bill is offered favoring Sunday ball, but all meet the same inglorious end. They are offered and that is the last ever heard of them. The chief reason, perhaps, has been that the bills never got any support from the baseball people themselves. Local club owners have never attempted in recent years to agitate the question.

Brooklyn Wants Baseball

However, they are apt to take a keener interest in the issue this time. For some time there has been a growing sentiment in favor of Sunday ball, which has been played in western cities with so much success, and if the sentiment of Brooklyn fans is any criterion there is a large element in favor of it here.

President Charles H. Ebbets of the Dodgers concluded a sort of straw vote on the issue this year. He had the fans who came to his park register their opinion. In this way he got the written opinion of thousands of fans. He says that only a negligible percentage were against Sunday baseball.

The result is that a petition signed by thousands of fans will be sent to the governor when the legislature convenes this winter, and also will be used in support of the bill which will be presented. It will be the first time that the fans have ever had a chance to register their sentiment on the question.

Sunday Big Day in West

Sunday ball has proven a big thing in the west. Sunday is the big day in all of the cities where the game is played on the Sabbath. The fans themselves would not have the condition changed. And the experiences of these western cities are a strong argument in favor of the game.

Sunday baseball undoubtedly draws great crowds in New York. For one thing, it would furnish healthful outdoor amusement for thousands of lovers of the game who cannot get away to see the games on week days. There are many fans among the working classes who never see a big league game in New York.

There was a time years ago when Sunday baseball would probably have been difficult to conduct. But under

LEVINSKY WINS
FROM JACK
DILLON

BOSTON, Oct. 25.—From what was seen at the Armory A.A. last night, when Battling Levinsky of New York defeated Jack Dillon of Indianapolis in a 12-round bout, the Battling One will draw a meeting with Champion Jess Willard, if such a match is possible. The contest proved one of the best ever witnessed in this city between men of their weight.

Two rounds were about all that could be given to Dillon. After that Levinsky played around Dillon, with perhaps the exception of the fifth round, which could be called even. The contest was not altogether a too one-sided affair, but Levinsky's boxing stood out as the more impressive. His scoring was cleaner and his hitting sharper than Dillon's.

The Hoosier appeared to be playing to land one solid right hand punch that he never could quite get over to the right spot. Levinsky worked his left hand incessantly, alternating jabs and hooks to Dillon's face and had an impressive defense.

The fighting was fast in every round, neither man favoring any particular blow, but playing everything he possessed in the fighting line. Dillon was the aggressor and seldom went to cover. Even while Levinsky rained blow after blow to the head and body, Dillon ploughed into the fray as though he enjoyed it. There was no backing up by Dillon, no matter how hard it came to him.

In some ways the battle was disappointing. Few expected to see Dillon so easily outclassed. Levinsky's superior ring skill was so patent from the sixth round out to the ninth that, outside of seeing a clean knockout, there was little chance for Dillon to win.

In each of the last six rounds Levinsky made his victory secure by outpointing the Hoosier impressively. The latter appeared to go completely off his stride in the latter part of the battle. Several well-intended right-hand punches went wide of their mark and there appeared no way that he could end Levinsky for a good, solid blow.

George Alger defeated Young Miller in an eight-round bout that was replete with action and hard hitting. Miller substituted for Frankie Moia and, considering his condition, did remarkably well against the well-trained and seasoned Alger.

The other preliminaries resulted in some quick victories. Johnny O'Brien scoring in one round over Young Buckley and Jimmy Gray from Johnny Martin in four rounds.

An all-star meeting has been arranged for next Tuesday night. Young Britt and Al Shubert will figure on one end of the program.

present conditions, with no drinks sold on the grounds, there should be no special danger of trouble from large crowds.

COX MAKES SOME
WOONSOCKET

WOONSOCKET, R. I., Oct. 24.—Walter Cox, the Grand Circuit driver, made things lively for competitors in the three races started at the autumn meeting here yesterday afternoon, but he had come down the stretch with his characteristic drives.

Cox took first money in the 2.11 pace with The Saver, driving the black gelding to 2.16 1/4 in the fourth heat to shut out Acoute. He has two heats to his credit with Jeannette Speed in the unfinished trot, and took fourth money in the 2.23 pacing class with Marland K.

The best matched fields in years took the word in every heat, and in nearly every one there was very close finishing. Some of these decisions by the judges did not accord with the view of the fans as seen by some of the spectators. In the second heat of the 2.17 trot, Jeannette Speed, Evan Williams and Galeton raced through the stretch nose and nose, and came under the wire as close as could be without making a dead heat of it. The judges gave the Cox mare first, with Evan Williams second and Galeton third.

Legal W. and Galeton were separated only by inches at the finish in the fourth heat and in the fifth Jeannette Speed had less than a head to spare for the winners. The race stood two heats for Legal W., two for Jeannette Speed and one for Galeton when darkness sent it over until today.

Lorry Brusie, son of the well known Harry Brusie, a lad in his teens, had a battle with Walter Cox in the 2.23 pace, when he drove Emma C. to a four-heat win. Cox won the 2.41 pace in four heats, dropping the third to Acoute, driven by Fleming, who was the main contender in every mile. The summary:

EBBETS GOT BARGAIN IN
ZACH WHEAT

One of the biggest baseball bargains on record was Zach Wheat, the Brooklyn outfielder. C. Hercules Ebbets bought him from Mobile in 1909 for $12,000, and at the time figured that maybe those southerners were slipping a little something over on him.

But Ebbets got a surprise and an incredible one.

Wheat has been a major leaguer for eight seasons and finished with a clubbing average beyond .300 on five separate and distinct occasions. Oddly enough he never hit .300 in the minors, yet in his first year in the big leagues he clubbed 'em for .304. In 1912 he hit for .305, in 1913 it was .301, in 1914 for .319. He slumped to .238 last year, but came right back this season with something like .320.

Another brace of "lucky guys" are Dick Hoblitzel, first baser for the Sox, and Larry Cheney, the spitball performer for the Dodgers. Both were considered "all in" by their former club owners. No one wanted to buy 'em. So waivers were asked.

The Sox needed a first baseman just about the time the Reds wanted to get rid of Hoblitzel and they took him for $15,000. The next season 1915—Hoblitzel bused him to the world's series and took into himself a large portion of the world series' spoils. And this year he got in for another big share.

Cheney fumbled miserably with the Cubs during his last year or two in Chicago. He looked like the minors for years but at the last minute Ebbets picked him up for $10,000. And this year Larry had the pleasure of spending or saving a new big sum of money for his share of the world's series.

HUGH HAVE TO GO TO SURGEONS
OUTWITTED THAN POOR—STOMACH
CANCER DUE TO HIGH LIVING

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 25.—Clinics held in many hospitals yesterday, attended by hundreds of members of the clinical congress of surgeons of North America, in session here, developed arguments for the simple life. It was the consensus of opinion among the surgeons that high living is responsible for more operations than is the life led by poor persons. The rich are more subject to cancer of the stomach than others, it was stated.

Dr. M. E. Rehnus, during a clinic at one of the hospitals, demonstrated some of the theories held by diagnosticians generally that cancer may result from too much protein, the chief element in meats and some rich foods.

NEW YORK, Oct. 25.—Gov. Whitman has been asked to use his good offices to bring about a settlement of the street car strike in this city in an appeal by the presidents of the eight local unions involved, which was sent to the governor by telegraph last night.

After stating that 11,000 men are on strike "to establish the right of organization," the appeal requested the governor "to use the power of your great office and your personal influence to adjudge the present difficulty."

BOSTON, Oct. 25.—Pietro Popolo, 24 years old, of 15 Murray court, East Boston, was found guilty yesterday in the East Boston court of assaulting his 3-months-old baby, and was given a suspended sentence of one month in the house of correction.

"He beats my baby and he beats me," hysterically declared Mrs. Popolo. "I can bear it, but I cannot stand to see him beat my baby."

Popolo, according to the testimony, became enraged at the baby's crying, and slapped it across the face several times, leaving black and blue marks. In defense, Popolo said he did not mean to hurt the child, and that his domestic troubles were due to the meddling of neighbors.

GREAT VICTORY FOR THE FRENCH AT VERDUN

PARIS, Oct. 25.—The French attack at Verdun apparently took the Germans completely by surprise and at one point did they succeed in stopping the impetuous rush. In three hours the French recaptured ground to gain which required months of patient effort by the Germans including such positions as Douaumont fort and Thiaumont work which in the past were won and lost repeatedly.

The official French account of the battle, every word of which was weighed carefully, does not say the German line was forced back but that it was "burst."

Later details of the French victory show that its extent was as much a surprise to the French as it must have been to the Germans. Gen. Pettain regarded the front east of the Meuse as too cramped and suggested to Gen. Nivelle, the commander of Verdun, that he give himself more elbow room. With that end in view the French army was reformed and the French and artillery was ordered for the establishment of new batteries. The aviation department was commanded to make an exhaustive survey of the positions of the German batteries and points of assembly. This work was carried out and the general was kept so well that to all appearances the Germans never had an inkling of what was in prospect. Furthermore, they evidently believed the energies of the French were being absorbed by the battle of the Somme and made no preparations to meet a thrust at Verdun. Thus it came about that what was intended for a small maneuver became a brilliant tactical success.

The attack was planned for 10 days ago. Artillery began preliminary work but rainy weather set in and grand headquarters ordered a postponement. When the time came the attack was delivered by four columns of a division each, first on the left, between the southern slopes of Pepper Hill and Thiaumont farm. This met with little difficulty. The attackers carried Thiaumont work and farm and the Haumont quarries set as the objective and gained the Bus-Douaumont road beyond. There the attackers stopped, but had advanced about a mile.

The second column was a colonial division under Gen. Mangin from the corps which retaken Douaumont fort last May. The task assigned to it was to take Hill 329, northeast of Fleury and the ridge of Caillotte wood. The offensive there was even more rapid than on the left wing. Gen. Mangin immediately saw he could advance further and the commanding officer was therefore informed that preparations had been made to continue the attack. Hill 329 was rushed by troops from Fleury which approached Caillotte wood through the celebrated Ravine of Death. They then crossed the wood and reached the approaches to Douaumont fort.

Everywhere the Germans gave way before them. However, the garrison of the fort had been prepared to defend the important point confided to it. French troops surrounded the fort and extended their gains everywhere without an instant's delay. Fatigue parties set to work turning the defenses so as to be ready to resist counter attacks.

West of the fort the village of Douaumont had been carried at a run and passed beyond. Meanwhile a stiff struggle went on between the French and the defenders of the fort. The Germans refused to surrender and the French killed nearly all of them before they forced their way into the ruins.

from both of which positions it can readily be attacked.

The French artillery preparation was brief but intense and was over before the German commanders had time to bring up reinforcements even if they were available. The assaulting French waves caught them before the Germans recovered from their surprise and swept over trench after trench, sending prisoners in all lines to the rear.

The French losses were very light. It is believed, even lighter than any recorded in the attacks on the Somme front.

News of the success has caused tremendous public enthusiasm here and this is all the greater because of the general impression that Verdun was over and done with and both sides were contenting themselves with holding what they had won. Today's operation, proving that the French could strike a smashing blow at Verdun while carrying on an extended offensive on the Somme has greatly increased public confidence and gone far to lessen the depression caused by the loss of Constanza.

LONDON PAPERS COMMENT EXULTANTLY ON FRENCH VICTORY AT VERDUN

LONDON, Oct. 25.—Although the French communiqué announcing the recapture by the French of the fort of Douaumont and the Haumont quarries and the smashing of the German line over a four and one-half mile front north of Verdun reached London late last night, the morning papers comment exultantly in special editions. The Times says:

"This strikes a severe blow at German prestige and shows the German staff the danger of weakening its lines in the west. The victory will disquiet the enemy, hearten the Russian army and inspire all so-Rumanian allies and inspire all the allies with fresh confidence."

The Daily Telegraph asserts:

"The French have dealt a staggering blow, putting a finishing touch to the story of the heavy British blow delivered in the past week end. The victory proves that at that point of mastery our troops have attained in the business of grinding Germany in the mill."

FRENCH TAKE DOUAUMONT IN GREAT DRIVE AT VERDUN

LONDON, Oct. 25.—Verdun has turned on her. By heavy attacks, beginning yesterday noon, Gen. Nivelle broke through the Germans on a four-mile front, drove them six miles northward, captured the village and fort of Douaumont, advanced beyond the Thiaumont work and farm, and occupied also the Haumont quarries, north of Verdun. The prisoners captured and counted thus far number 3500. The French losses were light.

Douaumont, the first fort taken by the German crown prince's army, overlooking the entire northern area at Verdun, is a vital point for direction of artillery fire. The bitterest fighting of the whole Verdun campaign occurred on its slopes last spring, when the shell-devastated hilltop changed hands several times.

Military experts here point out that the French coup at Verdun has glanced virtually all the ground lost in the second battle of Verdun. This was accomplished with lightning suddenness in a single day, whereas the Germans occupied nearly two months in wresting this ground from the French.

The German crown prince's artillery and infantry have been heavily drawn upon to defend the Somme front. A powerful French offensive from Verdun has been expected since the great German onslaught failed.

LUNG MOTOR DEMONSTRATION

City Physician Uses Waterway Committee Member as Subject in Demonstrating Lungmotor

A very enlightening demonstration of the lungmotor was given by Dr. M. A. Tighe, city physician, assisted by Harry W. J. Howe, of the waterways committee, at the police station this morning. It was expected that there would be a large attendance but outside of the doctor, Mr. Howe, Mr. Saunders of the fire department and a representative of The Sun there were but ten people present.

Dr. Tighe explained, in a very comprehensive manner, the workings of the machine, giving as near a practical demonstration as possible. Mr. Howe, being the subject, lay on a table, his head in a box, while there is air water there.

The lungmotor, according to physicians, is a big aid to persons who have been overcome by smoke, strangulation, opium or morphine poisoning or drowning.

ACADEMY OF MUSIC

To Be Opened As High Class Motion Picture Theatre—Interior Now Being Renovated

When the army of painters and decorators who at present are engaged in renovating the Academy of Music have finished their work, Lowell will have a high class picture theatre conducted on a plane similar to that on which the Park and Globe theatres are conducted. The license commission, last evening, granted a theatrical license to Mr. Frank Cauley, the well known Boston theatrical man, connected with the Colonial theatre, and Mr. Cauley associated with other men who are prominent in the show world will present at the academy, complete high class first run plays, such as now are running at the Park and Globe theatres. None but the most expensive productions will be presented and the clap-trap features of flimdom will be eliminated. The promoters of the venture have leased the theatre for one year, are spending a large amount of money on the renovation of the theatre and are representative men in the theatrical and motion picture business. They will announce the date of opening, etc., as soon as the decorators have completed their work.

FIRE THREATENED JOHN PILLING SHOE PLANT

What threatened to be a dangerous blaze broke out in a boiler pipe at the John Pilling Shoe Co.'s plant in Tyng street last night, but owing to the early discovery and the prompt response of the members of Engine 2 the fire was checked before much material damage was done despite the fact that the firemen were on the scene for nearly two hours.

Boiler pipes are used to carry off shavings of leather and leather dust from two of the buildings, all material from the two places being deposited in the boiler room where it is later consumed in the boiler. It was shortly before eight o'clock last night when the night watchman of the plant saw smoke issuing from the dome on top of the boiler house and he immediately sent in a telephone alarm to the central fire station.

District Chief Crowley and the members of Engine 2 and Truck 2 responded and upon arriving at the scene they found considerable smoke but the fire was confined to the interior of the boiler house and on the roof of the boiler house. Owing to the peculiar construction of the boiler pipes the fire was so confined that it made it difficult for the firemen to get at it. Ladders were raised to the roof of the boiler house and a chemical line played on the fan house for over an hour. The fire then made its way through the boiler pipes into one of the buildings and the firemen then entered the building and did effective work with the hand extinguishers.

In the meantime word was sent to the Westford street engine house and the chemical team that station responded and the members rendered material assistance in extinguishing the fire. The damage was slight.

Says is a Plant Juice Enthusiast

Lowell Man Relates How the New Remedy Has Now Cured His Stomach Trouble.

It is not alone sufficient that the body be provided with suitable food, but it is essential that the food must be changed in form by action of the digestive organs, before it provides energy for the human body. Without good digestion and assimilation, there can be no good health. Plant Juice, the new herbal stomach remedy, assists Nature, strengthens the stomach, causing the gastric juices to flow, thereby digesting the food. It acts on the liver and kidneys and eliminates uric acid from the blood, which is the cause of rheumatism; the sufferer is restored to health, which is the heritage of everyone.

Local testimonials from gratified users of Plant Juice continue to pour in, proving that this remedy is still living up to its reputation. One of the most recent is that of Mr. Henry D. McArthur, a well known Lowell citizen, who lives at No. 32 New York street. He stated as follows:

"I had suffered from stomach trouble for over four years. The gas in my stomach caused me great pain, especially after eating, and I could not keep anything solid in my stomach; it affected my heart, and at times I felt suffocated and could scarcely get my breath. I had headaches, was dizzy and nervous, could not sleep at night, was constipated and had a bad catarrhal cough in the morning when I got up. I was always tired, and had no ambition or energy to do anything. I had been laid up for weeks with a long spell of sickness and was unable to work. When I read about Plant Juice and the good word it was doing in my city, I decided to give it a trial, although I was very skeptical. Having taken so many medicines which did me no good whatever, I now am glad to state, for the benefit of other sufferers, that I am completely cured; can eat any kind of food and digest it, always have a good appetite for my meals, and can sleep well at night. I am gaining in weight every day, and think Plant Juice is certainly a wonderful medicine."

The Plant Juice Man is at The Dows Drug Store, in Merrimack Square, where he is daily meeting the local public, and introducing and explaining the merits of this remedy.

ANOTHER BRITISH LOAN OF $200,000,000

NEGOTIATIONS WITH AMERICAN BANKERS ARE APPROACHING COMPLETION

NEW YORK, Oct. 25.—Negotiations with American bankers for another direct British loan of not less than $200,000,000, and may be as much as $200,000,000, are approaching completion, according to intimations conveyed yesterday by the fiscal and commercial representatives of the British government.

Inquiry for the loan from financial and investment sources is said to be so general as to insure its successful negotiation. It is at present planned to arrange the loan in three classes of even amounts, the first installment payable in 1919 and the remaining two-thirds in the two years following.

The loan will be a direct obligation on the Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland, like the existing $250,000,000 loan, and will probably bear the same rate of interest, 6-1/2 per cent. It will be secured by American and foreign collateral, mostly bonds and preferred shares, having an aggregate market value of at least 20 per cent. in excess of the total amount to be loaned.

A syndicate of banks, trust companies and private bankers in this city and other leading financial centers has been organized to take part in the negotiations as direct participants, with J. P. Morgan & Co. as manager.

PROTESTANT EPISCOPAL CHURCH CONVENTION

EFFORTS TO SHORTEN THE TEN COMMANDMENTS HAVE BEEN ABANDONED

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Oct. 25.—Efforts to shorten the ten commandments have been abandoned at the present session of the convention of the Protestant Episcopal church, leaders in the convocation announced today. It was asserted that until the next convention in 1919 at least the decalogue will stand in the prayer book as it is. A commission appointed to suggest methods of revision of the book of common prayer favored the shortening of five of the commandments by the elimination of the reasons. Members of the commission asserted today, however, that this suggestion would not be pressed. Business and other phases of the proposed revision was to be resumed late today.

In the upper house the election of missionary bishops to succeed the late Rt. Rev. George Butler, Jr., as bishop of South Dakota and the Rt. Rev. Benjamin Brewster transferred to the bishopric of Maine, as bishop of western Colorado, were on the calendar.

At a joint session of the two houses the domestic mission fields were discussed, missionaries from every section of the country telling of their experiences.

The lower house adopted the report of the joint commission on the lectionary which urged the shortening of many of the Sunday school lessons by the elimination of lessons and passages deemed archaic. As a result the lectionary will be abridged about ten per cent.

BAKERS ARE NOT SELLING LEGAL LOAF OF BREAD

"Only one baker in the state is making for sale a legal loaf of bread," yesterday declared Thura Hanson, state commissioner of weights and measures, whose office is conducting an investigation of the bakery business with a view to learning whether the law is being observed.

Commissioner Hanson said that 3000 bakers in the state are selling as a "loaf" bread that is under the weight, as the statute stipulates that a loaf of bread must weigh 32 ounces.

The mistake comes in designating as a loaf of bread that which weighs less than 32 ounces. The law allows a baker to sell a three-quarter loaf of bread for 10 cents, a half loaf for eight cents and a quarter loaf for five cents.

"The error is a technical one. Commissioner Hanson says that he purposes to introduce a bill into the incoming legislature that will provide that a loaf of bread shall weigh 22 ounces. He thinks this standard will obviate the present complication in regard to weights of bread."

QUICK RELIEF FROM CONSTIPATION

Get Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets

That is the joyful cry of thousands since Dr. Edwards produced Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel.

Dr. Edwards, a practicing physician for 17 years and calomel's old-time enemy, discovered the formula for Olive Tablets while treating patients for chronic constipation and torpid livers.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets do not contain calomel, but a healing, soothing vegetable laxative.

No gripping is the "keynote" of these little sugar-coated, olive-colored tablets. They cause the bowels and liver to act normally. They never force them to unnatural action.

If you have a "dark brown mouth" now and then—a bad breath—a dull, tired feeling—sick headache—a torpid liver and are constipated, you'll find quick, sure and only pleasant results from one or two little Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets at bedtime.

Thousands take one or two every night just to keep right. Try them, 10c and 25c per box. All druggists.

THREE ARRESTS TODAY IN ABDUCTION CASE IN THIS CITY

Three arrests were made in Nashua, N. H., today in connection with the alleged attempt in this city last evening to abduct Athena Akritou, aged 17 years, from the corner of Moody and Colburn streets while she was returning from the evening session at the Green school to her home at 24 Prince street. With the man detained in this city late last evening the police claim that they now have the four men implicated in the abduction.

James Antonios, one of the three men arrested in Nashua, was fined $50 in the police court in that city this forenoon for carrying a pistol. The gun was found in his possession when he was locked up to be detained for the local police.

An automobile supposed to belong to John Enright was attached outside of the police station today by Constable William L. Crowley, on a writ sworn out by Arthur Bourke, an automobile repairman, who claims that he made repairs on the machine which were never settled for. The men arrested this morning are Athanasios Chamonas of Dummer street and James Antonios and John Rouses of Worthen street, all of Lowell. Prior to their arrest they were last seen disappearing in the woods near Lakeview about 10 o'clock last evening, and it is believed they wandered in the woods until they thought it safe to venture out and try and reach Nashua. They were returned to this city today by Patrolman Peter Tsaffaras. All are charged with assault and battery.

Held in $1000 Bonds

The other defendant, John A. Coutas, now of Boston, but formerly of Lowell, was arraigned before Judge Enright in police court today. Through counsel, A. S. Goldman, he pleaded not guilty to a complaint of assault and battery on Athena Akritou and was

Tchernavoda on Danube and Vulcan Pass on Transylvania Border Captured—French Hold Gains at Verdun

The process of closing in on Rumania from both sides is being continued by the armies of the central powers. Tchernavoda on the Danube and Vulcan pass on the Transylvanian border have been captured.

Petrograd Admits Loss

The loss of Tchernavoda by the Russo-Rumanian forces to Field Marshal von Mackensen's victorious armies is conceded by Petrograd which announced the evacuation of this important town, from which stretches the only bridge across the

Russo-Rumanian Retreat

Important strategic forces evidently remain on the Dobrudja side of the Danube, as Petrograd mentions the continued retreat of Russo-Rumanian troops northward along the Black sea coast. Berlin comments that the loss of Tchernavoda deprives them of their last railroad communication.

Important Success for Teutons

The bill stated that the barkentine was on her way from Barbadoes to Portland, Me., with a cargo of molasses when she was run into by the battleship in a fog at night and sunk. The entire cargo and the effects of the master and crew were lost. It is alleged. The crew was taken off in boats from the Nebraska.

SETTLE MILK CONTROVERSY
BOSTON, Oct. 25.—Secretary Richard P. Fette of the New England Milk Producers' association announced today that the executive committee of that organization had voted to recommend acceptance by the farmers of the offer of H. B. Hood & Sons, milk contractors of this city. Such action by the producers would end, he said, the refusal to ship milk to that company. The other companies in this city are still at odds with the association. "We asked fifty cents a can ($4 quarts) for milk delivered in Boston. We get it under the Hood company's terms. The only matter of contest now seems to be where the milk shall be delivered. Why should we fight over technicalities?" Secretary Fette said in announcing the executive committee's decision.

GERMANS MADE 500 AIR RAIDS IN ONE DAY

In addition a number of hostile aeroplanes were forced to land behind the Anglo-French lines. The weather on the day mentioned was bright.

BIDS OPENED FOR FOUR NEW BATTLESHIPS AND 20 DESTROYERS

WASHINGTON, Oct. 25.—Bids for four new battleships and 20 destroyers, the largest single order ever placed for navy craft were opened today at the navy department.

The New York Shipbuilding Co., the Fore River Shipbuilding corporation, William Cramp & Sons of Philadelphia and the Newport News Shipbuilding & Drydock Co., submitted bids for the battleships. The limit of cost as to hull and machinery has been fixed by the department at $11,500,000 each, an advance of $3,000,000 over the limit of ships contracted for last year.

All bids proposed are modification of the department's specifications in some respects. The lowest figure quoted by any bidder was $9,980,000 by the Fore River Shipbuilding corporation for two ships to be delivered in 42 and 48 months respectively.

That bid, however, was under the department's proposal for electrically propelled vessels and stipulated that the department and not the company should supply the machinery.

For a single ship within 12 months under the same conditions the company bid $10,350,000.

For one ship to be equipped with geared steam turbines to be supplied and guaranteed by the company, $11,016,000 was quoted and for two ships $10,716,000 each.

All the foregoing bids were entered under the stipulation that current prices of material and labor were used in making the estimates. The company proposed that any increase in those prices during the period of the contract should be met by the government and that any decrease should be deducted from the contract price of each ship, the federal trade commission to determine the figures in either instance.

Where the company assumes all the risk of increased price a figure of $10,875,000 for each of two ships, electric propulsion, was quoted and $11,475,000 for each of two steam propelled vessels.

The New York Shipbuilding Co. submitted bids only for steam propelled ships, asking $11,360,000 for one ship in 40 months or $11,250,000 for each of two ships, one in 40 months and one in 45 months. Should the department desire to provide electric machinery, the company proposed to deduct $525,000 from the bid.

William Cramp & Sons submitted no formal bid, but proposed to construct one ship on the basis of cost plus a 10 per cent. commission, the contract to be agreed upon by the navy department and the company's attorney.

The Newport News Shipbuilding and Drydock Co. proposed to construct one electric drive ship in 30 months for $10,470,000, the government providing the machinery or two such ships, one in 30 months and one in 45 months, for $10,375,000 each.

Proposals by the latter company for steam propelled ships on the same time allowance were $10,950,000 for one ship or $10,550,000 for each of two.

In each case, except that of the Cramps, the bidders proposed to eliminate sea trials of the completed ships from the contractor's expenses and declined to accept any responsibility for electric propulsion machinery.

LOWELL GIRL IN THE TOILS IN LAWRENCE

LAWRENCE, Oct. 25.—Marjorie Sullivan, of Lowell, a comely young woman who jumped her bail of $50 in March of last year after being arrested with three other young women in a raid upon the Hotel Napoli on Essex street, was before Judge Mahoney in the district court yesterday morning on the old complaint against her, which alleged that she was an idle and disorderly person.

She was arrested last Friday night in a raid in Lynn and when arraigned in court the case against her was continued until Friday. The Lynn authorities were aware of the fact that she was wanted here on a default warrant and after she was released on her bail, she was turned over to Patrolman Edgar Rausbotham, who brought her back there on a capias.

When the case was called Attorney Hugh Gregg told the court that Attorney Toye of Lowell had been retained as counsel for the girl and he had requested him to appear in court and ask for a continuance because he was engaged in the superior court and couldn't possibly appear.

Assistant Marshal Samuel C. Logan strongly objected to a continuance, claiming that the girl had practically forfeited her right to a trial, when she defaulted and that she shouldn't be given any consideration whatever. The court, however, thought that counsel had good reason and had a right to a continuance.

The question of bail was then taken up and the court asked the assistant marshal if he thought that $100 bonds, which she was released under yesterday following her arrest, would be sufficient and the marshal replied in the negative. Counsel objected to paying the bail increased and assured the court that the defendant would appear when the case comes up again.

The court finally decided to allow the bail to stand at $100, and continued the case until today.

Arraigned Today

The girl was arraigned before Judge Mahoney this morning and the case was continued to November 3, pending the disposition of her case in Lynn. The complaint against her today was that of being idle and disorderly. But was furnished by Harry Demarais of Lowell.

PREDEAL BATTLE DESCRIBED BY EYE WITNESS

AT THE HEAD OF PREDEAL PASS, ROMANIAN FRONTIER, WITH GENERAL VON FALKENHAYN'S ARMY, Oct. 18, by Corrier to Berlin, via London, Oct. 21.—Yesterday's battle ground Predeal Pass. The Associated Press correspondent visited various German and Hungarian battery positions where the men, undisturbed by Romanian fire, kept up a fearful bombardment of the opposing positions in the campaign for the invasion of Rumania. The men went on their work in almost a happy spirit, for it is with a sense of deep relief that the Germans and Hungarians here, officers and men alike, have left behind them the trench warfare of other regions and thrown themselves into open field maneuvers against the Rumanians.

Hush to Front Sniping
It was scarcely believable that after two years of strenuous life at the front, the Rumanians should rush to the assault with song, yet it is a fact, to which the universal feeling here of dealing with a foe who has yet to learn the trick of modern warfare contributes much. Though the German and Hungarian infantrymen were about to rush into the fire of Rumanian rifles and machine guns they viewed the situation complacently, saying that the worst of open field work was preferable to the trench warfare. Officers explained that the change virtually would make the troops fresh forces, owing to the novelty and the greater opportunity for initiative on the part of the men and also to the fact that after all the troops of the central powers are best suited for maneuvering, because of the training they have received along that line.

Like Open Field Battle

The Predeal battle is one of the few open field actions witnessed in this war by correspondents who are able to approach within less than 2000 yards of the skirmishing line, with the artillery in the rear. At 11 o'clock in the morning German artillery opened a desultory fire on the Rumanian trenches on Susul mountain, 3000 feet high, which at hour later reached its maximum fury. The Rumanians then directed mainly against the trenches some 500 feet below the summit. For a quarter of an hour the Rumanians stuck to their trenches, the artillery fire then showing merely a line of individual shell clouds. Word coming from the artillery spotters in the skirmishing line that the Rumanians thus far seemingly had not been impressed, the German artillery increased the fire so that a few minutes afterwards the smoke from the shells mingled in a cloud bank. The Rumanian infantry still held on for a time, but finally broke across the slope like a swarm of ants as the German and Hungarian infantry came in from the rear. Artillery followed up the fleeing Rumanians with shrapnel and the manner in which the fire pursued the Rumanians appeared almost uncanny.

On a ridge leading from Susul mountain the Rumanians finally reached their second position. A full column of a few minutes before it was decided to resume operations. German artillery, now ably supported by some Hungarian batteries, repeated the work of the morning and then the infantry rushed forward and in a comparatively short time the objective was gained.

Blow Up Town in 15 Minutes

The ground being extremely difficult, the Rumanians endeavored to forward infantry reinforcements through the town of Predeal, with the result that heavy German and Hungarian guns inside of 15 minutes blew up half of the town. The Rumanian forces were obliged to seek shelter in the forest above the town, passing through German infantry fire at long range. The losses of Gen. von Falkenhayn's army are said to have been light. An officer of the general staff told the correspondent that in the battle of Predeal the losses in dead were less than the number of guns captured from the Rumanians, which was 67. But this was an exceptional case and occasionally the Rumanian infantry shows up comparatively well.

CHILD'S TONGUE BECOMES COATED IF CONSTIPATED

When cross, feverish and sick give "California Syrup of Figs."

Children love this "fruit laxative," and nothing else cleanses the tender stomach, liver and bowels so nicely. A child simply will not stop playing to empty the bowels, and the result is, they become tightly clogged with waste. Liver gets sluggish, stomach sour, then your little one becomes cross, half-sick, doesn't eat sleep or act naturally. Breath is bad, system full of cold, has sore throat, stomach-ache or diarrhoea. Listen, Mother! See if tongue is coated, then give a teaspoonful of "California Syrup of Figs," and in a few hours all the constipated waste, sour bile and undigested food passes out of the system, and you have a well, playful child again.

Millions of mothers give "California Syrup of Figs" because it is perfectly harmless; children love it, and it never fails to act on the stomach, liver and bowels.

Ask your druggist for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which has full directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups plainly printed on the bottle. Beware of counterfeits sold here. Get the genuine, made by the "California Syrup Company." Refuse any other kind with contempt.

with burning buildings with intent to defraud an insurance company. Previous to this the defendants have been tried separately.

Cigarettes included in a full match box and this surrounded by shavings and turpentine are the means which the government claims that Simon Levine, Samuel Lishner, Isadore and Jacob Leventhal and Jacob Smaller employed in starting seven fires soon after midnight on Feb. 15 on the second, third and fourth floors of the tenement building at 235-9 Dudley street, Roxbury.

Each Got $125 for Job
Assistant District Attorney McIsaac said that the government would show that it took about 18 or 20 minutes for a fire thus arranged to make headway. After the fire had been started, he said in his opening to the jury, the four men whom he claimed were immediately involved in the setting of the fires jumped into an automobile and sped away to East Boston just as the apparatus arrived on the scene.

In East Boston, he continued, they were paid $125 each by Isadore Levine. He said that he would show that Simon Levine and Samuel Lishner hired men to set fire to the building at a price of $500 after a previous unsuccessful attempt.

Insured for $20,000
Mr. McIsaac said that Samuel Lishner had secured the building and had conveyed it to Annie Levine, the deceased wife of Simon Levine. At the time of this sale, he said, there was a mortgage of $15,000 on the property, and it was insured for $20,000. After the sale Lishner, he said, retained an equity of $300.

It would also appear, Mr. McIsaac said, that after the place had been cleared of its tenants, Levine and Lishner were hard up.

Deputy Fire Chief Sematt testified that he detected the odor of turpentine. He said that the fire threatened the whole district, and for that reason four alarms had been rung in. He found holes in the floors which he thought had been sawed out.

Edward J. Pennessy, a plumber, who occupied a store on the Oakland street side of the building, said that he remembered at the time having remarked that it would give $50 to discover who set the fire.

He said that if the street were quiet in front of the building he thought a police officer on the street could hear noises in the building such as would be occasioned by the ripping up of boards or the sawing of holes in his mind was in condition to take account of such things. By that he said he meant, as the spectators smiled audibly, that the officer's mind might be attracted to something else.

DIVORCE FOR PRINCESS AIMEE

NEW YORK, Oct. 25.—Princess Aimee Crocker Goudard Miskinoff, California heiress, will soon be freed from her youthful husband, Prince Alexander Miskinoff, Russian nobleman, whom she secretly wedded in London in 1914.

A supreme court referee yesterday recommended that the decree be granted, and Justice Greenbaum, to whom the referee's report was submitted, in all probability will grant the decree, since the prince, who fought the suit at the private hearings, offered no opposition to his wife's plea for freedom.

The princess, whose romance attracted attention in two continents, will retain her title, but according to her attorney, John C. Oldmixon, will drop into seclusion immediately.

CONGREGATIONAL CHURCHES

MAN IN THE MOON

Do you own an auto, or even a flyover? The latter even costs something to keep going, although you may know enough about machines to do most of the work yourself. Ever have it overhauled and paid the bill therefor? I hauled and paid the bill for overhauling a car. It wasn't mine. There were two bills a yard long each. One called upon the poor doctor to pay $57.45—the other totaled up $44.67. Among the items there wasn't any calling for tires, either. The doctor groaned, swore some and paid it. A little while ago a Boston and in a town about half-way on the road there, he called and refused to budge. There was some little trouble in its little insides and its radiator was leaking. They left the machine to the tender mercies of the nearest garage and continued on to Boston, where, just a little further, during which time there were many telephone extras, the auto owner was told that everything was all right, so somebody went down to fetch it home. He paid the garage man thirty-odd dollars and started—yes, he started—for Lowell. Between Wilmington and home he had to "start" many times, but after many hours at last reached Lowell in a frame of mind easy to imagine. At home they went to work and with the assistance of some amateur expert advice were not long in getting the machine running. The owner of the five-year-old car, who paid this out-of-town garage man about thirty dollars to mend it, but he thought it was worth it, perhaps, the experience was worth it. Now, there are many of us who think that there's a whole lot we don't know about automobiles; but these things do not particularly trouble us, until we get into a jam. In respect to pocketbooks get jelled. In respect to knowing much about automobiles, we are like some garage stations which are able to waylay us on the highway and pluck us quite artistically.

My advice to owners of autos is, if you cannot fix your car yourself, patronize home talent.

Snapple of Real Heather

The other day I ran across Mr. Frank J. O'Hare carrying in his hand a bunch of what he called Scotch heather, which he said he gathered in Scotland, whither he and his friend McNabb went to get it. When I saw this he said he had a beautiful pink blossom, yet when shown to me its seeds were showing. Frank says that it grows abundantly in Scotland, where it seems to be "cornered" since it is seldom discovered elsewhere. I have heard that it grows, or has grown, in Tewksbury—just where I don't know. It's a very interesting shrub and is as hardy as the people of the land whence it takes its name. The American Scotch heather evidently grows taller and has more branches than that of Scotland. Yet its flower is similar and has, too, the same under shrub of evergreen. It was enabled to make comparison between them for Mr. O'Hare has shown me a sample of heather from Scotland which a friend gave him.

George Fellows

George Fellows is missed by the Bay State company's patrons of the Chelmsford Center line and his death is regretted by all who ever met him to be influenced by his happy and genial nature. I knew George pretty well and always made it a point to ride with him out front. He would talk all right; but his bright eyes never wandered from his work. He had good judgment and common sense methods in running his car; and, so far as I know, never had an accident.

HEARING FOR FITZGERALD

Secretary of State Langley to Pass on His Protest at Position of Names on Ballot
BOSTON, Oct. 25.—Hon. John F. Fitzgerald, democratic candidate for United States senator, has protested to Attorney General Atwell at the position on the ballot of the names of the candidates for senator. Last night he was notified that he will be given a hearing by Secretary of State Langley today.

Mr. Fitzgerald contends that his name and that of Senator Lodge should be placed near the top of the ballot instead of at the bottom. Mr. Fitzgerald's contention is that the office of United States senator is second in importance only to that of president. It was intimated last night that Mr. Fitzgerald would charge the republican leaders with responsibility for the position given his name and that since there is a John F. Fitzgerald, a candidate for the state senate, an effort was made to confuse the voters.

CHARITIES CONFERENCE OPENS THIS EVENING

ALL MEETINGS ARE OPEN TO
THE PUBLIC—MAYOR WILL
WELCOME VISITORS

The great charities conference which embraces activities all over the state and throughout New England will start this evening at Colonial hall with every indication of success. Other conferences have been held by the organization but that of the present time is the most important ever attempted. Whether in the number of out-of-town visitors, the personnel of the speakers or the subjects to be discussed, this will mark the highest point reached by organized charity propaganda in this section of the country.

Many of the out-of-town visitors will not be on hand until Thursday morning, but the various charities of Lowell are keenly alert to the events scheduled for the different sessions. All meetings are open to the public. The meeting this evening will be at 7.45. Mayor O'Donnell will make an address of welcome and Congressman Rogers will speak as president of the league. The formal address shall be by Bolton Hall, Esq., of the New York bar and the general topic shall be "The Abolition of Poverty."

The committee find that 150 visitors, the full capacity of the St. Anne's parish house, have registered to have reservations for the luncheon served there Thursday noon, and 106 have registered for Friday noon's luncheon at the same place. Besides this, 99 have registered as desiring reservations for the inter-city luncheon on Friday noon. This event is annual during the conferences and is usually a small gathering not over 50. That 99 have indicated an intention of attending this function is one indication that this conference at Lowell will exceed in numbers any previous one. Furthermore, registrations have been coming in from all over New England. Vermont is the only New England state not represented as yet. New York state will also have representatives here. From Massachusetts 100 or more cities and towns will have delegates present.

BODILY HOUSEKEEPING

By V. M. Pierce, M.D.

The subject of drinking water with meals has been misunderstood for a hundred years.

In recent years investigation by means of X-rays, the observations of scientists such as Cannon, Grutzner, Pavlov, Fowler, Hawk, prove that an abundance of water taken during digestion is necessary in good bodily housekeeping. Drink plenty of water with each meal. Do not drink ice-water at any time.

If your kidneys are sick, or you suffer with lumbago or rheumatism at times, pain in the back or back of the neck, take a little "Anuric" before meals. This can be found at any drug store. Therefore my advice to young or old is, always drink plenty of pure water. And for long life occasionally take tablets of "Anuric" three or four times a day.

MANY BOYS AND GIRLS CONFIRMED TODAY

SACRAMENT OF CONFIRMATION
ADMINISTERED AT ST. PATRICK'S AND SACRED HEART

Over 525 children, boys and girls, received the sacrament of confirmation in this city this afternoon, 312 at St. Patrick's, and 184 at the Sacred Heart church, the officiating prelate being Rt. Rev. Bishop Anderson, D.D., of Boston.

WANT WOMEN TO AID IN SECURING ENLISTMENTS

ADVERTISEMENT INSERTED BY COL.
GARDNER CALLS FOR "GIRLS FOR
U. S. ARMY"

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., Oct. 25.—The United States army authorities here have advertised for women to aid in securing enlistments for the army. It became known today. The advertisement inserted by Lieut. Col. John H. Gardner, retired, who is in charge of the recruiting station here, called for "twelve girls for the United States army."

The advertisement specified that they must be "attractive, intelligent and industrious," held out the inducement that here was a chance to "make money and do your country a service" and concluded with the warning that "no triflers need apply."

Col. Gardner's plan is to install an exhibit which will demonstrate the life of a soldier from camp cooking to infantry drill. The women recruiting agents will work out of that station and will be paid $1 for every recruit they obtain.

The action, which is for $100,000, is based on a statement Mr. McCormick is said to have given to the newspapers on Monday.

mission, Thursday, tomorrow, afternoon, at 2 o'clock, to consider the objection of Charles H. Slowey to the issuance of a certificate of nomination to Owen E. Brennan.

This meeting was originally called for today at 2 p. m., but on a request from Lowell was postponed until tomorrow. No summons has been issued, either to the city clerk or the board of registrars, and it is not certain that they will respond to the request of the ballot law commission.

THREE ARRESTS TODAY

held in $1000 bonds for one week. Lawyer Colman attempted to have the amount of the bail reduced, but Judge Enright refused, intimating that the charge of some of the cases might have to be made even more serious.

The police believe that the case is similar to two others that occurred here within the past two years, one on Jackson street, and the other on Dunbar street. The three defendants were arrested in Nashua and the young girl involved worked near together in the Massachusetts mills. Although the girl denied this morning that she ever had any conversation with any one of them, it is thought that Chumonas planned to elope with her. The other two men, claim the police, were assisting Chumonas, and Coutas was the chauffeur.

THE CHAUFFEUR'S STORY

Coutas, who drives a machine in Boston, stated that he was hired by the other defendants to come to Lowell last evening. About 9 o'clock he drove the car to a dark spot near the corner of Moody and Colburn streets and awaited the approach of the Akraut girl. After the school session was over Athena, a cousin named Stavroulis, Rouvali and Evangelia Della came along together. Coutas, it is said, remained at the wheel and the other three men stepped out to the street. The other two men, claim the police, were assisting Chumonas, and Coutas was the chauffeur.

HANDKERCHIEF OVER MOUTH

The three men on the sidewalk are said to have circled around Athena, and when she refused to go with them, to have lifted her into the car. The girl tried to scream and they tied a handkerchief over her mouth. It is said the girl's cousin, Stavroulis Rouvali, attempted to assist her in escaping from the adroit abductors and her dress was badly torn.

The machine then disappeared up Moody street, over the bridge and out Mammoth road. The girl was still held in the machine with her mouth covered. At Lakeview the party experienced some trouble which caused them to stop for a while. Here the handkerchief was removed from Athena's mouth while Coutas fixed the tire. A machine passed and the girl screamed for help. The occupants stopped and Chumonas, Antonios and Houses became frightened and disappeared in the woods. Coutas then told the men in the second automobile that he would bring the girl safely home. He drove back to this city and was in the vicinity of Moody street when stopped by Patrolman Tsafaras. The latter had been given the number of the registration on the car that carried the girl away and he kept a keen watch of all passing machines. He stopped Coutas and took him to the police station where he was detained overnight. This morning the charge of assault and battery was preferred against him.

Revolver and Dagger

After hearing the story of the girl, the local police telephoned descriptions of the three missing men to Nashua and other cities with the result that they were all arrested early this morning. A warrant for their arrest was granted in the local police court and Patrolman Tsafaras left for Nashua shortly before noon armed with the papers.

The girl told the police that Chumonas carried a revolver and one of the other men had a dagger. The men asked her to be quiet and told her they would not harm her. From her story it seems that Chumonas was in love with her and tried to follow the car as it went by running away with her. The others were assisting him, said the girl.

Coutas, the only one arraigned in court this forenoon, denied any part in the alleged abduction. He said that he was simply hired to drive the car and thought everything had been planned out with the girl. The police questioned him about seeing the girl forced into the car and relative to the handkerchief being tied over her face but he talked but little on these matters.

called for without delay. This will mark the actual start of a project which has at last assumed practical shape.

The City Records

Henry E. Woods, state commissioner of records, is making his annual visit to Lowell for the purpose of inspecting the official records of the city departments. This morning he spoke warmly in praise of the present systems which, he said, he was instrumental in having adopted. It was hard to get the city started in keeping records properly, he said, but the work of the past year has been most satisfactory.

Expense Accounts

Many new expense accounts of candidates for office at the recent primaries have been turned in at the office of the city clerk, as required by law. Among them are the following:

George E. Marchand ..... $14.99
Thomas J. Corbett ..... 65.98
Adelard Bernard ..... 68.88
Owen H. Brennan ..... 68.88
John J. O'Connell ..... 28.50
Arthur E. Judd ..... 6.75

Among those who returned "Nothing Paid or Promised," are Smith J. Adams, Joseph W. Farrell, John McElhinon and John Jacob Rogers.

It was stated at the water department office that the striking excavators who have quit work and demanded a raise from $2.25 a day to $2.50 are still out. Their number is given as 20 and they are from different gangs. Some had been working at Garden road, some at the Fairmount street extension and some at Waburn street. None of them reported for work this morning.

National Engineering Corp.

There is a feeling at city hall that the National Engineering Corp. which is erecting the new bridge at Pawtucketville may not be able to complete the work within the time specified. The contract calls for 120 working days, and actual work started on or about June 25. Excepting rainy days and high water or other causes which might have caused a temporary suspension of work, there have been 35 working days up to the present time.

Building Permits

The following permits for buildings and alterations have been issued today: Avila Sawyer, 12-14 Fleming st., for a two-family dwelling to cost $3000.

Jeremiah Bailey, 551-563 Rogers st., a two-family dwelling to cost $3400.
N. J. Lavoie, 613 Waverly st., changing a one-family dwelling into two tenements. Estimated cost $500; Nois J. Allard, 1023 Varnum avenue, for enlarging home and adding rooms, cost $300; C. H. Hanson, Rock street, enlarging working space of blacksmith's shop, $50; Miss Lottie Joseph, 37 Grand street, to enlarge kitchen of home.

BIG BUSINESS IF RIVER DREAMS COME TRUE

The Consolidated Rendering Co., through its manager, H. W. Heath, has addressed a letter to the Lowell board of trade, approving the project of making the Merrimack river navigable from Lowell to the sea, stating that the company in the event of the project being put through, plans to use ships of its own that will carry its bulky materials. The letter reads: "Gentlemen:—The Consolidated Rendering Co. of Boston, whose subsidiaries are the Lowell Fertilizer Co. and Lowell Rendering company, with extensive plant for both companies at South Lowell, wishes to go on record as heartily in favor of the Merrimack river navigation project. The Consolidated Rendering is controlled by the Swift & Co. The prospects for the development of the companies at South Lowell are extensive, and involve considerable increase in total tonnage, both incoming and outgoing, in the future. We believe if there were a channel, as proposed in the Merrimack river project, a large amount of our raw materials would come by that channel, and that some of our shipments could be arranged to go out by way of the channel. We have a tonnage of around 100,000 tons a year, and a considerable portion of same might come and go by water. It is our plan, if this channel is constructed, to arrange for direct shipments by the river of our coal, phosphate rock, etc. In specially chartered ships. The amount of tonnage would depend on facts as yet to be determined, but the present indications are that many thousands of tons would be shipped by water. We make this statement at this time in order to emphasize to you that there are materials other than cotton and coal that make extensive use of the river, and we are very desirous of co-operating with you in presenting every available argument relating to the river project. Yours respectfully, Consolidated Rendering Co., H. W. Heath, Mgr."

ALLIED SEAPLANES RAID AUSTRIAN WORKS

MILITARY WORKS ON WEST COAST OF ISTRIA BOMBARDED—AUSTRIAN CRAFT WRECKED

ROME, Oct. 24, via Paris, Oct. 25.—Squadrons of Italian and French seaplanes have bombarded Austrian military works in three places on the west coast of Istria and escaped unscathed, says an official announcement. An aerial battle between the French hydroaeroplanes and Austrian seaplanes, in which one of the Austrian machines was captured and another fell into a lagoon at Basilegho, on the Italian coast near Corle, also is reported. The Austrian squadrons had been throwing bombs on Corle.

to awaken a more lively interest in educational studies generally.

Mr. Mahoney finds time outside his duties as principal to write articles for educational journals. One of his recent contributions dealt with "Old School Readers" and he certainly invested the subject with real interest. That the article was commented upon by the New York Sun indicates that it has attracted wide attention. Mr. Mahoney is showing much originality in dealing with educational questions and particularly in applying his skill as an educator for the advancement of the school which is now regarded as among the best in the state.

LITTLE SPARROW IS AN OUTLAW IN MASS.

Special to The Sun

STATE HOUSE, Boston, Oct. 25.—Officials of the fish and game department of the commonwealth are far from enthusiastic over the plan, formulated recently in New York, of exterminating English sparrows all over the country. Not only will they refuse to give their active assistance in the work of extermination, but they suggest that private citizens who attempt to aid in the work are very likely to find themselves in the toils of the law.

At the headquarters of the board it was pointed out today that while the sparrow may be, and probably in many respects is, a nuisance, nevertheless he has a distinct value, because he is one of the most indefatigable workers among all the exterminators of insect pests. He is, however, an outlaw under the Massachusetts statutes, but because of his marked resemblance to certain other birds which are protected by law any concerted effort to get rid of the sparrows will result in serious consequences to those involved.

The "tuck family," for instance, including the common "chippie," is a bird protected by the law, and heavy penalties are provided for any person causing the death of one. Yet there are very few hunters who can distinguish between a tuck and a sparrow, and, indeed, ornithologists are frequently required to look at least twice to be sure. Then there is the common ground sparrow of the meadows, one of the best friends the farmer has, because, with his mate, he devours unbelievable quantities of destructive insects, and he is always busiest at the season of the year when the insects cause most damage.

The female bobolink is another bird protected by law which the ordinarily informed hunter would very often mistake for an English sparrow so long as she keeps quiet. In fact, one of the commissioners on fisheries and game says the only way to distinguish between a female bobolink and a sparrow is to make them both sing. The bobolink is musical, but nothing commendatory can be said of the sparrow's vocal efforts.

It is admitted by the commissioners that the end desired might be achieved in either of two ways: one, by the use of poison, and the other, by the use of traps in parks and about the streets at night, but they believe the cost to the communities would be very great, and certainly entirely out of proportion to any benefit which would result. In Boston, for example, the trees in the old Graybury burying ground are filled each night with chattering thousands of sparrows, and any attempt by the city to get rid of them would cost a lot of money.

JUDGE ELMER B. ADAMS OF U.S. CIRCUIT COURT DEAD

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Oct. 25.—Judge Elmer B. Adams, 74 years old, of the United States circuit court, died at his home here last night after a long illness. Judge Adams was born in Pomfret, Vt., studied law at the Harvard law school and was admitted to the Vermont bar in 1868. In the same year he came to St. Louis and entered practice.

He was appointed to the federal bench in 1905.

AMUSEMENT NOTES

D. P. KEITH'S THEATRE

Seven straight hits are recorded by the bill at the D. P. Keith theatre, this week. Not a dull or commonplace act is on the program, and it's a good bill anywhere of which that can be said. Dorothy Regal, who is an apt character comedienne, plays the title character of "The Girl at the Cigar Stand," and her work proves to be diverting all of the time. The part is that of the young woman who sells all of the latest brands of smoking things in a metropolitan hotel, and who knows all the duffers from Cary to Seattle. Wash. How she jolies them along, separates them from their small change and finally gets a wee attack of heart disease. Fred Whitfield and Marie Ireland, in "The Belle of Bingville," purvey comedy and eccentric dancing of a high order. They are premier entertainers, while Val and Ernie Stanton, a pair of mugs, outrank any previous workers in a very interesting line. They are always funny. "An Ocean Woe," with Charles H. Middleton and Leola Spellmeyer in the leading parts, is one of the prettiest of comedies seen here in a long time. Miss Spelmeyer is an exceptionally attractive actress. Bob Tenny, a blackface musical comedian in comedy, melody and music, and the Equil Brothers are the best head and hand balancers the city has seen in several seasons. The Sterlings open the bill with attractive skating dances. The Pathe News service shows the very latest of pictures taken in all parts of the world. Phone 28.

LOWELL OPERA HOUSE

The most brilliant and best acted play that Lowell has seen in many years is "The Hawk," this week offering of the Emerson Players at the Opera House and the play is certain to set up a new mark for attractions in the city. Already there is a great demand for seats for the entire week and to avoid disappointment, patrons are advised by the management to make reservations early and for as early in the week as possible. Kindness are certain to be turned away. Seats can be ordered by phoning 281 and will be held until 1:30 and 7:45 o'clock only, including the subscription seats also. "The Hawk" is a brilliant dramatic sensation—a story, passionate and a skillfully developed play of the present day which shows how men and women like hawks, prey on their guests and their hosts, cheating them at cards and robbing them. It is a play with a decided punch in every scene and offers the Emerson Players wonderful opportunities to exploit their talents in lines entirely different from anything that the theatregoers of this city have seen them portray.

Ivan Miller is scoring a tremendous hit. The work of this clever young actor in the Faversham role is the talk of the whole city. That Mr. Miller is one of the biggest favorites ever known locally is certain and by his work this week he is winning many new friends. Miss Harriet Duke is another member of the company who is making a big hit. Miss Duke is an exceptionally clever young lady, pretty, with a splendid voice and a charming personality.

Millard Vincent is very good and James Hayden, Rose Morrison, James T. Galloway, Gertrude Shirley, Ernest East, David Baker, Frank Wright and other members of the company play their parts finely. A superb scenic program is offered with all new and special effects.

Seats should be secured early. "The Hawk" is positively limited to one week and as there is certain to be a tremendous demand for reservations for the remaining performances, it is a wise plan to arrange to see the attraction as early in the week as possible.

MERRIMACK SQUARE THEATRE

Clara Kimball Young and Fanny Ward will appear today for the last time in their latest photoplays, in which they have been seen at the Merrimack Square theatre during the past two days. Miss Young, whose reputation is based on her emotional, intense, unqualified, plays a strongly emotional role in the five-act play, "The Dark Silence," while Fanny Ward is more attractive than ever as the young girl accused of being a witch in the other five-act drama, "The Grip of Evil." Pictures will also be shown today, after which the program will be changed. Starting tomorrow afternoon and continuing the rest of the week, there will be shown "The Grip of Evil," the great serial, with True Boardman and charming Marin Sais and other big multiple reel pictures are to be shown. This is a performance of excellence, with variety the keynote. The serials are obtained by paying big money, but the management are satisfied that this form of amusement is liked by the public for many expressions from going patrons assure us of this fact. Friday and Saturday will bring "The Yellow Menace" and "Liberty."

ROYAL THEATRE

The new serial play, "The Shielding Shadow," will eclipse anything in that line previously filmed, if indications of the two past episodes are good guiding posts. The acting is of the highly efficient kind, while each new episode is brimful of dashing action, wonderful romance and exciting adventures. And with such a trio of players as Grace Darmond, Leon Barry and Ralph Kellum as leads, it becomes doubly successful. The third episode is one of the many undetected pictures shown at the Royal theatre today and tomorrow, besides the regular performance. The final episode of the great sociological serial series, "The Grip of Evil," comes to an end on this program—Jackie Saunders and Roland Bottomley will end their final episode today and tomorrow also. The ninth episode of "The Girl From Frisco," the great Kalem serial, with True Boardman and charming Marin Sais and other big multiple reel pictures are to be shown. This is a performance of excellence, with variety the keynote. The serials are obtained by paying big money, but the management are satisfied that this form of amusement is liked by the public for many expressions from going patrons assure us of this fact. Friday and Saturday will bring "The Yellow Menace" and "Liberty."

OWL THEATRE

All the excitement and the interest of the race-track runs through the new

William Fox photoplay, "Sporting Blood," starring Dorothy Bernard and Glen White, and which will be the attraction at the Owl theatre today and tomorrow. This new play is one which carries the audience through a series of scenes which are full of "punch" and life and which give Miss Bernard many chances to display her wonderful ability.

The plot of "Sporting Blood" concerns itself with the ravages of two persons upon a man who had tried to ruin them, but the background of the film, broader than the interest in persons, takes in a full view of the gambling instinct of humanity. One of these is the beautiful daughter of an ex-judge and horseman, whom the track had ruined and later caused his death. This girl's brother had gone to the city seeking his fortune, and the love of the race horses which he had inherited from his father, naturally brought him into the company of gamblers. One of the latter, a notorious figure on the turf and in gambling houses, incites the young man to steal from his employers that he might bet on the "ponies." The other person who is seeking revenge on this race track gambler is an ex-trainer of horses. The gambler had given this man a large amount of money with which to start a woman that he desired to get rid of. The ex-trainer discovers that his boss "friend" is his own sister. How the girl and the ex-trainer get their revenge on the gambler forms one of the liveliest stories depicted on the screen for some time. A big surrounding program of excellent photoplays will also be presented at the Owl today and tomorrow in conjunction with "Sporting Blood."

MEN'S REQUEST

BOSTON, Oct. 25. The Boston city council went on record yesterday, through its committee on ordinances, as opposed to granting one day off in three to the firemen of Boston. the matter will be taken in the regular meeting of the council next Tuesday. In the special meeting of the council, following the induction of Councilor Lehy, the order giving to the mayor authority to sell to the United States government, Gallup's Island for $150,000, was given its first reading. should come under the jurisdiction of the local or Lawrence police court. It is alleged that Martel stole the false teeth and other articles from Mr. Loveland's room.

He also said that the numbers were not securely attached to the bottles and he had not any way of comparing the sample in which water was alleged to have been found with the duplicate sent to him. Inspector Master claimed that the bottles were all properly sealed when delivered. Mr. Fox appealed.

Money Drivers Defaulted
Ten money drivers between Lowell and Lawrence were present on continuance charged with allowing automobiles to stand on Paige street in violation of the city ordinance. Daniel J. Shoplifting Case
The fourth of the shoplifting cases resulting from arrests in the basement of the A. G. Pollard Co. on Saturday last was tried today when Mary Kroganowski pleaded not guilty to a charge of stealing three patterns. The case was started Monday, but continued at the request of George H. Allard, counsel for the defendant. Today Harry Dunlap of the A. G. Pollard Co. and Sgt. Petrie corroborated part of Floorwalker Chretien's testimony. Mr. Chretien testified that he saw the woman take the patterns from the counter and put them in a bag. Mr. Dunlap saw the property in the bag and the woman admitted to Sgt. Petrie that she took it, but denied that she intended to steal. The defendant said that she was going to give the money to a young lady clerk. Lawyer Allard argued that the woman had five children and that her husband is home as the result of an accident. Due for these facts Judge Enright said he would have sent the woman to jail for her persistence in denying the truth. He imposed a fine of $15.

Guilty of Larceny
Larceny of $30 from William M. Waterman of the Singer Sewing Machine Co. was the charge preferred against J. P. Marquette when he was called before the court. He pleaded guilty. Mr. Waterman said that on Oct. 18 he sent

Marquette out collecting. He made two collections, one of $20 and the other $10, and failed to turn over the money. The case was continued until tomorrow for disposition.

THE HUGHES CAMPAIGN SMASHED

One of the charges made by the republican party early in this campaign, but subsequently abandoned as indefensible, was, that after the European war this country will be flooded with the manufactured products of the countries that have suffered from the war.

Those who have even the faintest idea of the impoverished condition in which these countries will be left after the war, can realize that it will take them ten years, nay perhaps twenty years, to return to the industrial conditions that prevailed before the war. Where will be the factories, the men or the ships necessary for an exportation business?

The fuel is, that after the war these countries will be in a state of exhaustion and impoverishment akin to paralysis. The period of reconstruction will necessarily be a long one and until the leveled cities and towns are rebuilt and a new generation arises to do the work, we need not fear anything from the competition of the countries now engaged in war.

Yet this has been one of the chief reasons put forward in favor of Mr. Hughes' election on the ground that the period following the war would bring up more serious problems than did the war and all its momentous issues.

From this supposed issue the republicans jumped to the tariff which a permanent commission will take out of politics and then to the Mexican question which is being settled by a joint commission. Finally the Hughes campaign rests upon the charge that the Adamson bill was a sop to the railroad men and unnecessary; yet it was in reality a measure designed to save this nation from a calamity, not adopted merely to please the Brotherhoods.

Mr. Hughes is now going about trying to assure the people that he is not for war, and denying that he is opposed to the eight-hour day, while other speakers in his behalf take the stand that the Adamson bill is only a bluff which will accomplish nothing for the railroad men. Thus, there is not a single issue brought forward by the republicans, on which they have not hedged in the most laughable manner.

The question then arises, what is left of the republican campaign, and as we are about to answer—"Nothing," we are reminded that in recent developments in New York Mr. Hughes appears to have brought out a "Burehard" to help finish him at the polls. The fact is, the Hughes campaign has been smashed to pieces, and nothing now remains but to await election day to give President Wilson a sweeping endorsement.

THE HYPHENATE VOTE

The New York World brings out in very forcible language the fact that while Candidate Hughes is pandering to the hyphenate vote as represented by the German-American committee that made certain demands of him yet, Theodore Roosevelt is appealing to the pro-British element of the electorate. Thus they hope to draw to Mr. Hughes the support of both elements; but it will be a case of between two stools, etc.

Mr. Hughes says he made no compact with the delegated committee that waited upon him, but it is alleged that the demand made was in the nature of an ultimatum intimating that if Mr. Hughes' speeches proved satisfactory to the voters represented by the committee, he would get their votes, not otherwise.

It is shown, however, that after the interview with Hughes, steps were taken by those represented to organize certain districts in support of Hughes which would tend to indicate that the interview itself was satisfactory.

The World closes a long editorial on this matter with the following statement:

"The Hughes-German conference again emphasizes an issue which the American people can ignore only at their future peril. In this campaign Woodrow Wilson is the American candidate for president of the United States and Charles E. Hughes is the hyphenate candidate. It is Mr. Hughes himself who has made that issue, and if Mr. Hughes is elected, Germany will have a right to celebrate President Wilson's defeat as a gigantic German victory in the United States."

This is undoubtedly one of the most startling incidents of the campaign as it shows up a scheme on the part of Mr. Hughes' supporters to punish President Wilson for defending the rights of this nation and forcing Germany to abandon her policy of sinking merchant ships without warning.

POLITICAL ENROLLMENT

The question of political enrollment will be one of the referenda on the ballot at the coming election. The people have had a trial of non-enrollment since its enactment, and it has worked well, there being no complaints except from republicans who claim that it allows democrats in certain cases to dictate nominations on the republican side. It is possible that in rare cases, members of either party might take part in caucus fights of the other party; but we do not believe that this remote possibility should cause the repeal of the law which enables every man to vote without undergoing the ordeal of declaring whether he is a democrat, a republican or a socialist. Democrats in general are in favor of the law for the reason stated as there have been cases in which employers have attempted to dictate how their employees should vote. Under the non-enrollment law every voter can exercise the franchise both at the primaries and final elections without declaring to what party he belongs. That is as it should be. The law should remain as it is.

SEEN AND HEARD

It is mighty hard at times to keep the commandments.

Both Soldiers Happy

Major-General Sir Sam Hughes, the Dominion minister of defense, has been telling a good yarn concerning conversation he overheard between two Canadians while on a flying visit to the western front.

The men had evidently met unexpectedly, and were obviously old acquaintances.

"John, old man," ejaculated one of them, "why, what on earth are you doing over here?"

"Well," replied the other, "I have neither wife nor children, and am fond of war. But what brings you here?"

"Just for opposite reason," said the other speaker frankly. "I have both wife and children, and I like peace."

Her Night Out

"John, dear, you're not going out to-night, are you?"

"Why—or I kind of half promised the boys I'd drop around for a game of pool."

"Oh, John, I wish you wouldn't. It's dreadfully lonesome here when you're out."

"Why, love, I had no idea you missed me as much as all that."

"I do, John. Of course, I don't want to deprive you of your pleasures, but I do wish you'd stay at home more than you do."

"Very well, dear. If you feel that way about it, I'll stay in tonight."

"John, you're just the best hubby in all the world. Would you mind taking care of baby while I run around to the moving picture show?"—Minneapolis Tribune.

How Kipling Changes

Like many other famous writers, Kipling is not a little like what the public imagine him to be, and people are sometimes a little disappointed when they first meet him to find him so quiet and reserved. On one occasion a gushing young lady admirer, who had waited for years for an introduction to the great writer, was at last lucky enough to be introduced to him.

"You are Rudyard Kipling?"

"Yes," he murmured modestly.

"But I thought," continued the young lady—"I thought you were—oh, how shall I say it?—something quite different."

"Oh, I am," Kipling hastened to tell her gravely, and in a very confidential tone—"I am, madam, only, you see, this is my day off."

No Admittance

Judge Isaac Franklin Russell, chief justice of the court of special sessions of New York, has to make a personal supervision of penal institutions, among them insane asylums, as one of his official duties. He went to the White Plains asylum recently on a tour of inspection and found a strange guard at the entrance, an old friend of his having been discharged.

Judge Russell told the guard he wished to be admitted.

"Can't do it," was the answer.

"But I have business here," said the judge. "I come from New York."

"We've got 200 in here now who came from there," answered the other. "I'm afraid you do not know who I am," ventured the judge getting tired of the guard's belligerent attitude.

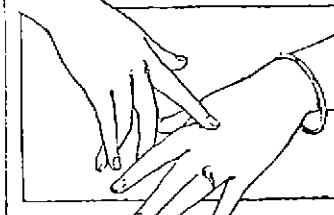

"I am chief justice of the court of special sessions."

"Cut it, cut it," broke in the other. "We've got three men inside now who say they're chief justices."

healed her itching skin

"I had a terrible case of eczema which covered both my hands. My fingers began to itch, then tiny water blisters came which formed scales all over my hands. I suffered for two years, getting very little rest or sleep because of the terrible itching. I used very many remedies, but they all failed to give me any relief. I tried Resinol Ointment and Resinol Soap and got immediate relief. My hands were completely cured. They are soft and white and without a blemish, and I shall never be without Resinol Ointment and Resinol Soap in my home." (Signed) Mrs. Jacob Schwartz, 123 W. Cary St., Richmond, Va., Jan. 21, 1916. ness, to one of her fourth-grade boys. As he is a great awkward fellow who is always in collision with his playmates, the teacher first began by insisting that he say "excuse me," whenever he ran into some one or tripped their feet. She also told him he must tip his cap whenever he met her or any other woman he knew.

One afternoon recently the teacher met the boy on the street. His face wreathed itself into a smile of greeting, but to the teacher's dismay the battered cap was not lifted. She stopped and fixed on him a level gaze that would tend to resurrect the deepest buried memory.

"You have forgotten something," she said. "The little fourth grader looked blank. Then all at once his face lighted with a sudden ray of remembrance as he said, 'O, forgot to say 'excuse me!'—Indianapolis News.

"Cascarets" regulate women, men and children without injury.

Take when bilious, headachy, for colds, bad breath, sour stomach.

Instead of nasty, harsh pills, salts, castor oil or dangerous calomel, why don't you keep Cascarets handy in your home. Cascarets act on the liver and thirty feet of bowels so gently you don't realize you have taken a cathartic, but they act thoroughly and can be depended upon when a good liver and bowel cleansing is necessary—they move the bile and poison from the bowels without griping, and sweeten the stomach. You eat one or two at night like candy and you wake up feeling fine, the headache, biliousness, bad breath, coated tongue, sour stomach, constipation, or bad cold disappears. Mothers should give cross, sick, feverish or bilious children a whole Cascarets any time—they are harmless and safe for the little folks.

CITY PURCHASING AGENT OF BOSTON RESIGNS

BOSTON, Oct. 25.—Mayor Curley's interference with the awarding of purchasing orders for the city of Boston brought about the resignation of D. Frank Doherty, city purchasing agent, yesterday, according to statements made by Doherty to a reporter last night.

Doherty and the mayor disagreed last night as to whether the former had tendered his resignation under pressure, after the mayor had given Doherty an hour in which to resign or be discharged.

Doherty said that his resignation was voluntary. Mayor Curley averred otherwise. Doherty also took exception to a statement which the mayor issued after the filing of Doherty's resignation.

The resignation was accepted and at a clock last night Doherty had completed the turning over and explanation of the office workings to Building Commissioner Patrick O'Leary, who had been appointed by the mayor as acting purchasing agent.

MAYOR'S APPEAL FOR SOLDIERS' RELIEF FUND

The following appeal to the public for the Soldiers' Relief fund has been issued by Mayor James E. O'Donnell: To the Public:—

The committee appointed by the city of Lowell and the board of trade to furnish aid to the dependents of the Lowell soldiers who volunteered their services at the Mexican border has reported that its funds for such aid have become exhausted, while yet there is work to be done.

Although the soldiers are expected home between Nov. 3 and 5, it will be some weeks later before they have been finally mustered out of the service, and until that time their dependents will continue to be in need of aid.

The committee reports that it will require $900 to continue its relief work until such time as the last soldier has been mustered out, and I therefore respectfully ask the public of Lowell to assist in an effort to replenish the relief to the extent asked for by the committee.

I fully appreciate that several demands have been made upon the generosity of the people of Lowell within a very short time, all of which have been cheerfully and liberally responded to. But here is a situation calling upon us to perform a patriotic duty: to show our brave soldiers that we appreciate what they have done for their country and city in laying aside their daily work at a time when all were enjoying the benefits of industrial prosperity and leaving home and loved ones to go forth to what and they knew not, in response to their country's call. They cheerfully volunteered their services; they represented us on an unpleasant and dangerous mission, and it is up to us to see to it that those dependent upon them shall suffer no discrimination while in their absence.

While away, our soldiers have made good for the army reports speak most highly of the services of the Ninth regiment. Let us at home make good to them by adequately caring for those dependent upon them.

The amount required is not a great sum to be raised among the people of a municipality of the size of Lowell for all people can assist and small contributions will be accepted as well as those of larger amounts. Let all give according to their means, and thus give assurance to the brave men of Lowell that should volunteer be called for in the future none need hesitate to respond because of the city's unwillingness to look after their dependents in their absence.

MOB SURROUNDS CHICOPEE COURT DURING TRIAL

CHICOPEE, Oct. 25.—The police are making a strenuous effort to connect Francis Ducharme, confessed slayer of 17-year-old Leonora Kaez, with the slayer of William Hegley in Holyoke about a year ago.

Conflicting Tales

Ducharme denies any knowledge of the murder, but the police are certain that strong circumstantial evidence will link the man to the slaying. He tells conflicting stories of his whereabouts a year ago and the police assert they expect to prove he was in the town when the murder took place.

He was arraigned in the police court yesterday morning and the formal plea of not guilty was entered. He waived a hearing and was held for the grand jury. A crowd estimated at 1000 persons gathered about the court house and threatened violence against the prisoner.

Mob Pleads For Man

Fifteen police, with drawn clubs, were on guard, but the mob was unruly. "Give him to us," they shouted. At the conclusion of the hearing the patrol wagon was backed up to the door and a lane cleared for the prisoner.

While the attention of the mob was held by the patrol wagon Ducharme was taken out the rear door of the court house and hurried to Springfield in a fast automobile.

Taken to Jail

He was photographed in the Springfield police headquarters and then removed to the Hampden county jail. The funeral of the little girl was held yesterday morning in St. Stanislaus church and she was buried in St. Stanislaus cemetery. Hundreds of school children thronged the church and the tiny white casket was nearly hidden with flowers.

Anniversary Committee Reports on Banquet at Regular Meeting of Court Merrimack

There was a large attendance at the regular meeting of Court Merrimack, Foresters of America, in Grafton hall last night. Chief Ranger Thomas P. Kelley presided. Two applications for membership were received and one candidate was elected. The anniversary committee reported that the banquet held on October 19th was a great success, both from a financial and social standpoint.

Interesting remarks were made by Thomas P. Kelley, James O'Hearn and Arthur Bernhardt. At the close of the meeting a social hour was enjoyed.

LEPROSY INCREASING IN CIVILIZED COUNTRIES

DR. FREDERICK HOFFMAN PRESENTS STATISTICS BEFORE HEALTH ASSOCIATION

CINCINNATI, O., Oct. 25.—Leprosy is apparently increasing in civilized countries, according to Dr. Frederick L. Hoffman, statistician of The Prudential Insurance company, who presented today before the American Public Health association the results of a study of the statistics of this disease.

Dr. Hoffman said that a conservative estimate of the number of cases in this country would be 300 and that, as shown by the returns from the state of Louisiana, the disease is apparently on the increase.

According to his investigations at leper settlements throughout the western hemisphere, and the urgency of a more intelligent study of the statistical aspects for the purpose of ascertaining the essential contributory factors, Dr. Hoffman said an attempt was being made to bring together, by uniform and standardized methods, the leprosy statistics for at least the principal leper settlements throughout the world, so as to ascertain with greater accuracy the prevailing types of the disease, the average duration before apprehension, and the average length of after-treatment.

He estimated the known lepers in the world at not fewer than 2,000,000, of which the large majority were in the far east. Including the United States insular possessions, he estimates that the number of lepers subject to American control is not much smaller than 5,000.

Dr. Hoffman said he was strongly in favor of effective segregation and more humane treatment, especially in the case of isolated lepers apprehended in interstate traffic and for which, at the present time, inadequate provision was made in the majority of cases, and adequate provision only in the case of three or four states in the absence of complete federal leprosy supervision and control. He suggested the establishment of a federal leprosy sanatorium, in conformity to a bill introduced in the United States senate. That this measure had not become a law was regrettable, he said, as mean while the present conditions of "ill-considered treatment and lack of proper care" would have to continue.

MISSING FROM HOME

Smith Boy Has Been Missing Since Saturday—Parents Anxious As to His Whereabouts

Louis J. Smith, 15-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Smith, has been missing from his home, 338 Central street, since Saturday afternoon. As far as could be learned the boy was without money and his parents cannot account for his sudden disappearance. When last seen he was attired in long khaki trousers, blue serge Norfolk coat and white checked cap. He had been employed at the Odd Fellows building in Middlesex street and upon completing his duties Saturday afternoon returned to his home where he changed his clothing and then went out.

It was thought that he might have gone to visit relatives in Amesbury or Newburyport, but inquiry at those places failed to bring forth any information relative to his whereabouts.

Interesting stories of his experiences. The committee in charge of the observance of the 45th anniversary of the lodge reported progress.

CONDITIONS HAVE IMPROVED IN THE HOTELS

The license commission held a private conference last evening with Supr. Welch and Liquor Inspectors Cooney and Holland of the liquor squad at which a review of the conditions found in the hotels last Sunday was taken. At the conclusion of the conference it was stated that a great improvement was noted by the liquor inspectors in their tour Sunday and that there are still some places where changes for the better can be made. There were no complaints brought up last evening, however.

A communication from the city clerk was received by the board, calling attention to an amendment of section 1, City Ordinances, regarding hawking and peddling, approved July 27, 1897, amended Dec. 30, 1898, and further amended Oct. 11, 1916, to go into effect Oct. 23, 1916. The amendment requires that hawkers or peddlers of fish shall be licensed and reads as follows: "No person shall hawk or peddle fish until he has been duly licensed and has recorded his name and residence with the license commission of the city of Lowell and has been assigned a number by said commission to be worn in such a manner as said commission shall prescribe. The fee for such license shall be $10 and the license shall continue in force for one year from the date thereof."

The following minor licenses were granted: Sunday permit: Rhoda M. Cuddeford, 637 School street, Public amusement for dancing; Fred N. Wier, Grafton hall, 212 Merrimack street, Common vaudeville; William J. Connell, 561 Lawrence street, Public amusement for theatre, F. R. Cawley, Academy of Music, 141 Dutton street, To sell frankfurters on the public streets; David Hartnell, 19 Washington street, Express; Chester H. Zimmer, 33 Fourth street, Junk collector; Samuel Jackson, 155 Howard street, The Sunday permit held by Joseph Banache was renewed and extended and reassigned to Thomas A. Sheehan at the same premises.

CANDIDATE MANSFIELD ATTACKS STATE LOBBY

SAYS POPULAR LEGISLATION HAS BEEN KILLED BY REPUBLICANS—APPEALS TO WORKERS

BOSTON, Oct. 25.—Frederick W. Mansfield, democratic candidate for governor, in addresses delivered in Southbridge, Webster and Oxford last evening, extolled the democratic party for its enactment of labor bills and criticized the republican party for fostering a pernicious lobby at the state house that killed bills in the interest of the people.

Mr. Mansfield will this afternoon address the Wilson Democratic club of Boston University Law school. Members of the club will this evening take the stump in conjunction with the orators of the Harvard Wilson club, and will speak in several cities of the state. The Mansfield wage carriers' flying-wedge committee last night reported that it had issued an appeal to the 1400 trade unions of the state, urging them to co-operate in the wage carriers' effort to elect Mansfield as governor. It is said the unions represent 180,000 members.

"The record of the democratic party for labor has been a splendid one," Mr. Mansfield declared at his rallies last night. "The workmen's compensation law is by no means perfect. It needs amendment. I am in favor of extending this law, so that it will benefit the workmen more than is now the case."

"Injured employees should be allowed the privilege of choosing their own physician, and should not be compelled to go to the doctor chosen for them by the insurance company."

"It will probably be difficult to change the law or secure any humanitarian legislation, because of the existence of the lobby. The lobby exists today in as violent a form as ever. Matthew Hale of the progressive party has publicly accused the speaker of the house and the president of the senate of being absolutely under the domination of two notorious lobbyists."

"Neither the speaker of the house nor the president of the senate has replied to the charges, nor have the lobbyists, whose names were mentioned. The republican party makes no reply to the accusation. Nor does Gov. McCall come to the defence of his party."

"In view of the fact that certain members of the legislature have publicly stated that Gov. McCall sent for them and asked them to defeat the pure milk bill, it is very likely that Gov. McCall finds it difficult to deny lobbying."

"We will never have pure government in Massachusetts until the lobby is extirpated."

T. R. WOULD COMPEL ALL TO SERVE IN ARMY

DENVER, Col., Oct. 25.—Pleas for universal military training and criticism of President Wilson for "debauchery of the civil service" characterized the address here yesterday by Colonel Roosevelt, the principal one of a trio of speakers made in the course of his one-day stay in Denver.

Col. Roosevelt urged that compulsory training would redound to the benefit of the nation, by increasing democracy, developing American youth physically and mentally, and aiding the country's social and industrial development. His criticism of President Wilson included a declaration that an executive had "exchanged officers for political support."

Col. Roosevelt advocated repeal of the Hay military bill and the restoration of the militia to its former status. He cited Switzerland's development as an instance of what compulsory military training would do in developing a country "physically, mentally and morally."

The colonel divided his afternoon speech, which primarily was to the women of the state, between an appeal to them to vote for Charles E. Hughes for president and a sharp criticism of the administration's foreign and Mexican policy. He declared the passage of a constitutional amendment confining voting women was the most practical and expedient goal for the suffragists now, and asserted Mr. Hughes would maintain his announced stand in favor of this amendment.

REPUBLICAN CHARGE IS OFFICIALLY DENIED

WASHINGTON, Oct. 25.—W. Jett Lauck, economic expert and chief statistician for the railroad brotherhoods, issued a statement today disposing of the claim made by republicans that train service employees in the passenger service will suffer a reduction of pay on account of the Adamson eight-hour law.

Referring to reports published in the morning papers that passenger engineers would be paid by the hour instead of on a mileage basis after Jan. 1, Mr. Lauck said:

"The Adamson law does not substitute hours for distance or miles as a basis of payment. By the terms of the Adamson law eight hours is substituted for ten hours in existing agreements between the railroads and their employees. This is the express provision of the law and President Wilson specifically so stated in his address to congress."

"The basis of payment remains absolutely unchanged in this respect. Employees may take either hours or miles for any length of time as has been the custom hitherto. Under the provisions of the Adamson law rates of pay to men on passenger trains could not be reduced."

FORD PAYS MEN'S WAGES TO WOMEN EMPLOYEES

AUTO MANUFACTURER DECLARES INCREASE INSPIRED BY PRES. WILSON

LONG BRANCH, N. J., Oct. 25.—Henry Ford, the automobile manufacturer, announced after an conference with President Wilson yesterday that as the result of an "inspiring talk" he had with the president two weeks ago, he had established the women workers in his plants upon the same pay basis as the men, which means that most of them will receive at least $5 a day.

Inspired by Wilson

Mr. Ford authorized the following statement:

"I had the pleasure to inform President Wilson yesterday afternoon that I had established the women workers of my plant at Detroit and in the branch factories in other cities upon a pay equality with the men workers. I took this step following my conference with the president more than two weeks ago and I did so because of the inspiring talk I had with Mr. Wilson on the forward movement among womankind. This principle is now in operation and I look forward with complete confidence to its vindication."

Mr. Ford came here late yesterday to show the president advertisements supporting the Wilson administration which he plans to have published prior to the election. When he stepped off the train and was asked why he came to Shadow Lawn he replied: "To get on the Wilson band wagon."

The Pictures are Before You CHOOSE!

"NAP-A-MINIT"

Used by Dr. Gagnon in His Superior PORCELAIN DENTISTRY

Take a good look at these pictures—they tell the story of TWO KINDS OF DENTISTRY. The left hand picture is of a man being treated in the old, harsh method employed in this day by many dentists. Note the rigid position of the patient as he sits upright, gripping the doctor's arm, hindering him in his work, and making his own pain necessarily greater. Every nerve in his body is on edge—every muscle tense—he is induced the personification of fear and pain. THIS IS DENTISTRY AS I DO NOT DO IT.

Now turn to the picture on your right. Here you see restfulness and relaxation, a patient that feels no pain, yet is in control of every other sense. He can talk and hear and watch the doctor, unhindered, do his very best work. This is an example of DENTISTRY AS I DO PRACTICE

IT. This is what "Nap-a-Minit" has done for all my PATIENTS. "Nap-a-Minit" is a positive pain destroyer and absolutely eliminates all pain in dentistry. With its use, one may have teeth and roots extracted, nerves removed, cavities prepared and filled, crowns and bridge-work inserted and every conceivable kind of dental operation performed without the slightest fear or dread because IT WILL NOT HURT.

Now that you have seen the two pictures and know the story that they tell, it is up to you to CHOOSE if you have dental work to be done. Will you have pain and harsh treatment or will you have "Nap-a-Minit" and no pain at my offices? There is little doubt about your answer and when you come here you will find the greatest service and value-giving dental offices in New England.

ANNOUNCEMENTS OF INTERESTS

Mr. John W. Carroll of Draught, a well known chauffeur for the past season with the Pitts Auto Supply, has purchased a 7-passenger Auburn touring car from the Auburn Motor Co. on Thorndike street, this city.

Automobile manufacturers say that fall is the best time to buy an automobile. The winter months are the time during which a car renders the maximum of gasoline service.

Cooling—the automobile show.

The motorists in this section of the country, in rapidly increasing numbers, are becoming enthusiastic for all-year touring.

Next Saturday there will be another opportunity for the speed artists on the track at Sheephead Bay speedway. The followers of this sport at a higher pitch of excitement than previously. They expect 163, 105 and even 123 miles an hour to be the achievements of the speed cars. Darío Rexia and his Peugeot will be a prominent factor of the championship contests, in the special 100-mile and 50-mile events.

The Lowell Motor Mart is taking steps to advise motorists to prepare the car and themselves for the cool and cold fall and winter driving. There are many ways in which special caution must be taken, and other ways in which it may be taken for comfort. Stephen Rochette, prop., has prepared his auto supply house to meet the season's requirements by stocking up full-ly on all articles, supplies and accessories which the autoist may call for. Some invaluable suggestions are made in his display in this automobile section.

Each E. Smith Co. today calls the attention of automobile owners to "Ezy-Brite," a product which is used on cars to keep them looking fresh and bright. It will not injure the finish of a car. Without trouble road oil, tar and grease stains are removed by means of this same polish.

Peter J. McKenna, of this city, announces the opening of McKenna's Automobile Repair Station on Broadway near School Street. Mr. McKenna makes this as one step upward in his business career, being the former owner of the Tremont street and First street garages. With his long experience in the automobile field he is no doubt an expert, and extends the value of his ability to all his patrons and patrons-to-be. No one will be allowed to accept his work and he disavows it. His many personal and business friends are wishing him continued success.

An automobile's "heart" became part of a physician's figure of speech one day recently in a small gathering of motorists in Chicago and with it he brought to attention the vital importance of the motor.

"There is one portion of the human body with which surgeons tamper little," he said. "That is the heart. It is too vital. It cannot be stopped for tinkering. The well balanced heart is the engine of the automobile. It doesn't matter how many new-gaws a car carries, if the motor is faulty you have no car."

Geo. R. Dana, of the Cadillac agency and garage on East Merrimack street, is displaying some interesting values in used cars. Even more than at any other time of the year is this particular season the one of opportunities for those contemplating the purchase of a used car. Values, of course, should be weighed, but this is an unusual occasion at a convenient and reliable sales depot to consider these items. Mr. Dana says that these cars will exceed the expectations of the most critical, the details as well as the general features being meritorious.

over the tire chains carefully. Take out all cross chains that are worn and replace them with new ones. The best practice is to put in a new grip at every other place, making the chain half new and half old. If a weak grip breaks, the one next to it is strong, and will hold, whereas if all had been weak several might break at once. Use the grips you take off to replace those that break.

Sometimes a driver says his magneto always misses when it rains. A magneto may be short circuited by rain getting into it, but do not condemn the magneto before looking elsewhere. Distributor and spark plug terminals are not covered with insulation, and so may leak current. Short circuits may develop in secondary wires. Spark plug cores may be cracked. If no faults can be discovered outside of the magneto, put a leather cover over it and end your troubles.

A source of noise that is frequently overlooked is the case enclosing the timing gears. It should be kept filled with lubricant, but if it becomes empty it acts as a sounding board and intensifies the noise of the gears.

If the motor has no priming cups it will be hard to start when cold weather comes. Get a set of spark plugs with priming cups attached. Remember that ether is the best substance for priming, as it will evaporate readily no matter how cold the engine may be.

When any part gets rusty, put kerosene on it, but let it stand awhile and then wipe off. Kerosene is useful in removing rust, but it will also cause rust. After removing kerosene put oil on parts or wipe with oily rag. Crude oil is also very good to remove rust.

THOSE HEADLIGHTS AGAIN

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 25.—Right of way and glaring headlights are the two things which stand out ahead of everything else in the uniform traffic problem, according to Chairman O. L. Yellott of the A.A.A. legislative board, which has taken up this large subject in a determined effort to bring about a country wide understanding.

Evidence that all of the states are interested in this plan of the organized motorists is apparent in the letters being received by Chairman Yellott. From Washington comes this comment by Secretary of State J. M. Howell:

"The American Automobile association is certainly on the right track now, and if you will compile something that can be made uniform throughout the United States I know of no reason why it could not be passed in each one of the several states. Send us something and we will try and put it in the motor vehicle code at the next session of the Washington state legislature."

Manufacturers of motor cars are generally coming to recognize that the public is demanding the low fare. Last year there was little of this feature

TO RID ISLAND OF BOARS AND WOLVES

FARMERS OF MANITOWLIN ISLAND HAVE DEVISED NOVEL PLAN—300 MEN TO PARTICIPATE

GORE BAY, N. S., Oct. 25.—Farmers of Manitowlin Island have devised a novel plan to rid the island of boars and wolves which for some time have been killing sheep and cattle in large numbers. C. J. Campbell of Burpee today announced that arrangements had been completed whereby he will head 300 men in a drive on the wild animals. Scattered across the island from the north to the south shore, the little army, which will carry horns and whistles as well as rifles, will march forward in a steady line to the peninsula at Mississauga. They will make all the noise possible, hoping to frighten the beasts into heading flight to the narrow strip of land where they are confident that they can corner and slaughter them. Fires will be built at night all along the line. It is figured that the drive will occupy three days.

AUTOMOBILE QUESTION BOX

NOTE—In these columns every Wednesday we will give expert advice to motorists on how to repair and operate their vehicles. Automobile questions are invited to send in questions. Such questions they may wish to have answered. Such questions will receive attention in due time. Address all communications: Automobile Editor, Sun, Lowell, Mass. Communications must bear the signature and address of the sender, though not for publication but as a guarantee of good faith.

Motoring Department, The Sun—Will you kindly advise through your column, if possible, the best speed records of the Excelsior and Harley-Davidson motorcycles? I would like to be informed as to comparative durability, etc.
J. B.

Ans.—For speed records it will be best to write to the manufacturers themselves. As to comparative durability we are not in a position to inform you. It is the policy of this department not to pass on the merits of denizens of any article on the market.

Motoring Department, The Sun—To settle a point in dispute, please let us know if it is possible to crank an engine if the starting handle is broken or missing. Of course we mean where there is no self-starter on the car.
T. J. and L. M. S.

Ans.—If the car is on the side of a hill, put gears in a speed, throw out clutch, release brake to get car in motion and let in clutch to crank engine. If the car is on level road and help is at hand, have car pushed along with driver in seat, have gears in high speed and clutch out. Let car forward and let in clutch suddenly. Where driver is alone he can jack up one rear wheel, put gears in high speed, and crank engine.

Motoring Department, The Sun—I have been advised to change my tires from back to front as they wear. Please let me know which tires wear most, and how they should be changed around.

Motoring Department, The Sun—I have a light motorcycle, using bicycle tires. I have trouble with the rear tire. The rim seems to cut it. Can you tell the cause and suggest a remedy? If you have a license to run an automobile, can you run a motorcycle with a license, or vice versa?
C. E. H.

Ans.—Remove the tire and inspect

Motoring Department, The Sun—I have a carburetor that drips gasoline so badly that I have to turn it off at the tank after using. I have taken the dirt out and hear the gasoline inside when I shake it. Would this cause the trouble? If so, how can I get the gasoline out without damaging the float? I live some distance from a repair shop and should like to do the work myself.
K. A. B.

Ans.—The float is evidently a metal one, and one of the seams has opened slightly. Hold a match to it to vaporize inside. A tiny point of flame will show the leak. Enlarge this by twisting the point of a penknife on it, or open slightly with a nail. Then pour gasoline. Plug hole with piece of match. Gasoline soaks into wood, making a tight joint. Later you may pull out plug and solder lightly, using as little solder as possible. Test by holding float in flame.

Motoring Department, The Sun—In a month or two I intend overhauling my six-cylinder motor. Would it be advisable to change the old piston rings for "leak proof" rings? Would the improvement in the operation of the motor justify the extra expense?
G. V. L.

Ans.—There are several "leak proof" rings on the market. They overcome the disadvantage of the slot in the ordinary ring and to a great extent. It would be well to put one at the top of each piston, but a complete set would be somewhat expensive. If the rings are badly worn they should certainly be replaced. Some owners make a practice of replacing broken rings with leak proof rings. By this means the cost is distributed over a longer time.

Motoring Department, The Sun—My car is a — with a carburetor. Recently the carburetor caught fire and I had trouble putting it out. Consequently, I have been in dread of a fire ever since. Please tell me what causes a carburetor to catch fire so that I can avoid the danger in future.
H. J. C.

Ans.—Foaming back at carburetor may be due to leaky inlet valve, short circuit, distributor wired up incorrectly, or interrupter shifted on shaft. If there is much gasoline around the carburetor, due to excessive priming, it may catch fire. Go over the above points carefully. Fasten a fine wire screen over air inlet or extend inlet pipe by flexible tube at least a foot upward and away from carburetor.

Motoring Department, The Sun—My Ford car has begun to miss explosions recently. I have cleaned spark plugs and adjusted the gaps to one-sixteenth inch. Compression and lubrication seem to be good. The current goes to the plugs, but doesn't seem very strong. Can this be the trouble?
G. B. G.

Ans.—It is evident that the vibrators need adjusting. Disconnect one wire at a time from spark plug, placing end not more than one-fourth inch from engine so that spark can jump. Put switch on battery and crank engine until timer makes contact for coil you are adjusting. Turn adjusting screw down until a white hot spark is produced. Continue with remaining vibrators. If you have no battery, run engine on remaining cylinders while adjusting. Try spark plug gap at one-thirty-second inch or less. One-sixteenth inch is too wide.

BASEBALL AND

THE SUN SPORTING PAGE

BOXING, GOLF
BASEBALL IN
NEW YORK

NEW YORK, Oct. 25.—The old question of Sunday baseball for New York, which has been brought up time and again in past years, is to be brought into issue this winter, according to the plans for a campaign started in Brooklyn.

It is planned to present a bill at the coming session of the legislature which for the first time will be given adequate support. Those in charge of the campaign intend to back up their bill with an expression of sentiment from the fans, so that the fans themselves, who constitute a substantial part of the voting population, may have a chance to determine whether they want Sunday ball or not.

Almost every year a bill is offered favoring Sunday ball, but all meet the same inglorious end. They are offered and that is the last ever heard of them. The chief reason, perhaps, has been that the bills never got any support from the baseball people themselves. Local club owners have never attempted in recent years to agitate the question.

Brooklyn Wants Baseball

However, they are apt to take a keener interest in the issue this time. For some time there has been a growing sentiment in Brooklyn, which has been played in western cities with so much success, and if the sentiment of Brooklyn fans is any criterion there is a large element in favor of it here.

President Charles H. Ebbets of the Dodgers, a most ardent supporter of the issue this year. He had the fans who came to his park register their opinion. In this way he got the written opinion of thousands of fans. He says that only a negligible percentage were against Sunday baseball.

The result is that a petition signed by thousands of fans will be sent to the governor when the legislature convenes this winter, and also will be used in support of the bill which will be presented. It will be the first time that the fans have ever had a chance to register their sentiment on the question.

Sunday Big Day in West

Sunday ball has proven a big thing in the west. Sunday is the big day in all of the cities where the game is played on the Sabbath. The fans themselves would not have the condition changed. And the experiences of these western cities are a strong argument in favor of the issue.

Sunday baseball would undoubtedly draw great crowds in New York. For one thing, it would furnish the outdoor amusement for thousands of lovers of the game who cannot get away to see the games on week days. There are many fans among the working classes who never see a big league game in New York.

There was a time years ago when Sunday baseball was probably have been difficult to conduct. But under

LEVINSKY WINS
FROM JACK

BOSTON, Oct. 25.—From what was seen at the Armory A.A. last night, when Battling Levinsky of New York defeated Jack Dillon of Indianapolis in a 12-round bout, the Battling One will draw a meeting with Champion Jess Willard, if such a match is possible. The contest proved one of the best ever witnessed in this city between men of their weight.

Two rounds were about all that could be given to Dillon. After that Levinsky played around Dillon, with perhaps, the exception of the fifth round, which could be called even. The contest was not altogether a too one-sided affair, but Levinsky's boxing stood out as the more impressive. His scoring was cleaner and his hitting sharper than Dillon's.

The Hoosier appeared to be playing to land one solid right hand punch that he never could quite get over to the right spot. Levinsky worked his left hand incessantly, alternating jabs and hooks to Dillon's face and had an impregnable defense.

The fighting was fast in every round, neither man favoring any particular blow, but playing everything he possessed in the fighting line. Dillon was the aggressor and seldom went to cover. Even while Levinsky rained blow after blow to the head and body, Dillon ploughed into the fray as though he enjoyed it. There was no backing up by Dillon, no matter how hard it came to him.

In some ways the battle was disappointing. Fans expected to see Dillon so easily outclassed. Levinsky's superior ring skill was so patent from the sixth round out to the finish that, outside of scoring a clean knockout, there was little chance for Dillon to win.

In each of the last six rounds Levinsky made his victory secure by outpointing the Hoosier impressively. The latter appeared to go completely off his stride in the latter part of the battle. Several well-intended right-hand punches went wide of their mark and there appeared no way that he could find Levinsky for a good solid blow.

George Alger defeated Young Miller in an eight-round bout that was replete with action and hard hitting. Miller substituted for Frankie Moio and, considering his condition, did remarkably well against the well trained and seasoned Alger.

The other preliminaries resulted in some quick victories. Johnny O'Brien scoring in one round over Young Buckley and Jimmy Gray won from Johnny Marto in four rounds.

An all-star meeting has been arranged for next Tuesday night. Young Britt and Al Shubert will figure on one end of the program.

present conditions, with no drinks sold on the grounds, there should be no danger of trouble from large crowds.

WOONSOCKET, R. I., Oct. 24.—Walter Cox, the Grand Circuit driver, made things lively for competitors in the three races started at the autumn meeting here yesterday afternoon, but he had some down the stretch with his characteristic drives.

Cox took first money in the 2.11 pace with The Savoy, driving the black gelding to 2.10 in the fourth heat to shut out Acornite. He has two heats to his credit with Jeannette Speed in the unfinished trot, and took fourth money in the 2.22 pacing class with Maryland K.

The best matched fields in years took the world in every heat, and in nearly every one there was very close finishes. Some of these decisions by the judges did not accord with the view of the finish as seen by some of the spectators. In the second heat of the 2.17 trot, Jeannette Speed, Evan Williams and Galtion raced through the stretch nose and nose, and came under the wire as close as could be without making a dead heat of it. The judges gave the Cox race first, with Evan Williams second and Galtion third.

Legal W. and Galtion were separated only by inches at the finish in the fourth heat and in the fifth Jeannette Speed had less than a head to spare for the honors. The race took two heats for Legal W., two for Jeannette Speed and one for Galtion when darkness set in over the track.

Lorry Brusie, son of the well known Harry Brusie, a lad in his teens, had a battle with Walter Cox in the 2.23 pace, when he drove Emma C. to a four-heat win. Cox won the 2.11 pace in four heats, dropping the third to Acornite, driven by Fleming, who was the main contender in every mile. The summary:

EBBETS GOT BARGAIN IN

One of the biggest baseball bargains on record was Zach Wheat, the Brooklyn outfielder, who was bought by the Boston Red Sox from the Philadelphia Athletics for $120,000, and at the time figured that maybe those southerners were shipping a little something over on him. But Ebbets got a surprise—and an agreeable one.

Wheat has been a major league for eight seasons and finished with a clubbing average beyond .300 on five separate and distinct occasions. Oddly enough he never hit .300 in the minors, yet in his first year in the big leagues he clubbed 'em for .304. In 1912 he hit for .303, in 1913 it was .301, in 1914 for .313. He slumped to .253 last year, but came right back this season with something like .320.

Another brace of "lucky guys" are Dick Hoblitzel, first baser for the Sox, and Larry Cheney, the spitball performer for the Dodgers. Both were considered "all in" by their former club owners. No one wanted to buy 'em. So writers were asked.

The Sox needed a first baseman just about the time the Reds wanted to get rid of Hoblitzel and they took him for $1500. The next season—1915—Hoblitzel bunted into the world's series and took unto himself a large portion of the world series' spoils. And this year he got in for another big share.

Cheney fumbled miserably with the Cubs during his last year or two in Chicago. It looked like the minors for him but, at the last minute, Ebbets picked him up for $1500. And this year Larry had the pleasure of spending on saving a nice big sum of money for his share of the world's series spoils.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 25.—Clinics held in many hospitals yesterday, attended by hundreds of members of the clinical congress of surgeons of North America, in session here, developed arguments for the simple life. It was the consensus of opinion among the surgeons that high living is responsible for more operations than is the life led by poor persons. The rich are more subject to cancer of the stomach than others, it was stated.

Dr. M. E. Rehfuss, during a clinic at one of the hospitals, demonstrated some of the theories held by diagnosing generally that cancer may result from too much protein, the chief element in meats and some rich foods.

Popolo, according to the testimony, became enraged at the baby's crying, and slapped it across the face several times, leaving black and blue marks. In defence, Popolo said he did not mean to hurt the child, and that his domestic troubles were due to the meddling of neighbors.

GREAT VICTORY FOR THE FRENCH AT VERDUN

PARIS, Oct. 25.—The French attack at Verdun apparently took the Germans completely by surprise and not at one point did they succeed in stopping the impetuous rush. In three hours the French recaptured ground to gain which required months of patient effort by the Germans including such positions as Douaumont fort and Thiaumont work which in the past were won and lost repeatedly.

The official French account of the battle, every word of which was weighed carefully, does not say the German line was forced back but that it was "burst."

Later details of the French victory show that its extent was as much of a surprise to the French as it must have been to the Germans. Gen. Pétain regarded the front east of the Meuse as too cramped and suggested to Gen. Nivelle, the commander at Verdun, that he give himself more elbow room. With that end in view infantry was sent up to reinforce the French and artillery was ordered for the establishment of new batteries. The aviation department was commanded to make an exhaustive survey of the positions of the German batteries and points of assembly. This work was kept so well that all appearances the Germans never had an inkling of what was in prospect. Furthermore, they evidently believed the energies of the French were being absorbed by the battle of the Somme and made no preparations to meet a thrust at Verdun. Thus it came about that what was intended for a small maneuver became a brilliant tactical success.

The attack was planned for 10 days ago. Artillery began preliminary work but rainy weather set in and good headquarters were not in position. When the time came the attack was delivered by four columns of a division each, first on the left, between the southern slopes of Pepper Hill and Thiaumont farm. This met with little difficulty. The attackers carried Thiaumont work and farm and the Hindenburg line to the east of the Meuse and gained the Bras-Douaumont road beyond. There the attackers stopped, but had advanced about a mile.

The second column was a colonial division under Gen. Mangin from the corps which retook Douaumont fort last May. The task assigned to it was to take Hill 320, northeast of Fleury and the edge of Callette wood. The offensive there was even more rapid than on the left wing. Gen. Mangin immediately saw he could advance further and the commanding officer was therefore informed that preparations had been made to continue the attack. Hill 320 was rushed by troops from Fleury which approached Callette wood through the celebrated Ravine of Death. They then crossed the wood and reached the approaches to Douaumont fort. Everywhere the Germans gave way before them. However, the garrison of the fort hurriedly prepared to defend the important point confided to it. French troops surrounded the fort and extended their gains everywhere without an instant's delay. Fatigue parties set to work turning the defenses so as to be ready to resist counter attacks.

West of the fort the village of Douaumont had been carried at a run and passed beyond. Meanwhile a stiff struggle went on between the French and the defenders of the fort. The Germans refused to surrender and the French killed nearly all of them before they forced their way into the ruins.

Things went equally well on the right. The third column advanced half a mile, reaching the edge of Vaux wood and carrying the part of the Vaux-Chapelle wood held by the enemy as well as Pulin wood. The column stopped north of these woods on the outskirts of the village of Vaux.

The fourth column which was ordered to operate in the vicinity of Vaux fort without taking it, followed the program exactly. It drove out the Germans from Chenois and Laufen woods, captured Dambloup battery and, pushing ahead, encircled Vaux fort on the east, south and west, so that the defenders have no way of issue except to the north.

IRON GRIP OF CENTRAL POWERS ON RUMANIA TIGHTENS

BERLIN, Oct. 24, via London, Oct. 25.—The iron grip of the central powers upon Rumania has tightened in two important notches, with the capture of Medjidie and Iashova in Dobruja and of Predeal on the Transylvania border. The conquests of these important places have been achieved with surprising speed.

With the capture of Constanza, the Rumanians lost their principal seaport while the taking of Medjidie and Iashova now places Tchernavoda in a critical position and in military opinion here threatens Rumania more than ever.

The capture of Predeal comes as a climax to the recent forcing of a number of important mountain passes from Transylvania into Rumania, so that the central powers appear to be nearly in a position to swoop down upon the Rumanian plains and attack the heart of the country.

Predeal and the passes behind it spell the loss to Rumania of its natural western fortifications formed by the mountains of Transylvania. Medjidie and Iashova, if they lead to the capture of Tchernavoda, denote with Turkai and Silistra the removal of the artificial barriers to access into Rumania across its other natural fortification, the Danube river.

GREAT ENTHUSIASM IN PARIS OVER SUCCESS AT VERDUN

PARIS, Oct. 24.—Verdun, long lost sight of, sprang suddenly and unexpectedly today into the forefront of the public mind which exclusively had been directed towards the battle on the Somme front. The German front on the right bank of the Meuse literally was swept away for a distance of four and a half miles like straw before the wind.

Gen. Nivelle for weeks past had been watching the German movements like a lynx, carefully calculating the effect of every withdrawal of troops for transfer to the Somme and eastern fronts. At the same time he quietly made his preparations and when he judged the Germans had thinned their defenses to the danger point, he struck like lightning. The result was one of the most brilliant operations of the campaign.

The Germans who yesterday were pressing close upon the inner line of defenses at Forts Souville and Tannenberg, have now been driven beyond the outer defenses of the Fort Douaumont-Vaux line. Vaux fort remains in possession of the Germans but the French line extends beyond it on the north at Vaux village and Pulin wood and also on the south of it at Dambloup battery and Chenois wood.

from both of which positions it can readily be attacked.

The French artillery preparation was brief but intense and was over before the German commanders had time to bring up reinforcements even if they were available. The assaulting French waves caught them before the Germans recovered from their surprise and swept over trench after trench, sending prisoners in all lines to the rear.

The French losses were very light. It is believed, even lighter than any recorded in the attacks on the Somme front.

News of the success has caused tremendous public enthusiasm here and this is all the greater because of the general impression that Verdun was over and done with and both sides were contenting themselves with holding what they had won. Today's operation, proving that the French could strike a smashing blow at Verdun while carrying on an extended offensive on the Somme has greatly increased public confidence and gone far to lessen the depression caused by the loss of Constanza.

LONDON PAPERS COMMENT EXCITANTLY ON FRENCH VICTORY AT VERDUN

LONDON, Oct. 25.—Although the French communiqué announcing the recapture by the French of the fort of Douaumont and the smashing of the German line over a four-mile front north of Verdun reached London too late for comment in the early editions, all the morning papers comment excitedly in special late editions. The Times says:

"This strikes a severe blow at German prestige and shows the German army in a dangerous position. The victory will disquiet the enemy, hearten the Russo-Rumanian armies and inspire all the allies with fresh confidence."

The Daily Telegraph asserts: "The French have dealt a staggering blow, putting a finishing touch to the story of the heavy British blow delivered in the past week-end. The victory proves to what point of mastery our troops have attained in the business of grinding Germany in the mill."

FRENCH TAKE DOUAUMONT IN GREAT DRIVE AT VERDUN

LONDON, Oct. 25.—Verdun has turned on her face. By heavy attacks, beginning yesterday, the French broke through the German line on a four-mile front, drove them two miles northward, captured the village and fort of Douaumont, advanced beyond the Hindenburg line and farm, and occupied also the Hindenburg quarries, north of Verdun. The prisoners captured and counted numbered 25,000.

The French losses were light. Douaumont, the first fort taken by the German crown prince last February, overlooking the entire northern area at Verdun, is a vital point for direction of artillery fire. The bitterest fighting of the whole Verdun campaign occurred on this slope last spring, when the shell-devastated hilltop changed hands several times.

Military experts here point out that the French coup at Verdun has regained virtually all the ground lost in the second battle of Verdun. This was accomplished with lightning suddenness in a single day, whereas the Germans needed nearly two months in wresting this ground from the French.

The German crown prince's artillery and infantry have been heavily drawn upon to defend the Somme front. A powerful French offensive from Verdun has been expected since the great German onslaught failed.

LUNG MOTOR DEMONSTRATION

City Physician Uses Waterway Committee Member as Subject in Demonstrating Lungmotor

A very enlightening demonstration of the lungmotor was given by Dr. M. A. Tighe, city physician, assisted by Harry W. J. Howe, of the waterways committee, at the police station this morning. It was expected that there would be a large attendance but outside of the doctor, Mr. Howe, Chief Saunders of the fire department and a representative of The Sun there were but ten people present.

Dr. Tighe explained, in a very comprehensive manner, the workings of the machine, giving as near a plain, logical demonstration as possible. Mr. Howe being the subject. The lecture was started in the guard room where Dr. Tighe, after explaining the various parts of the machine, informed his hearers that one of the most essential things in cases of drowning was to force out as much water as possible from the lungs of the person, stating that it is practically impossible to force oxygen into the lungs while there is any water there.

The lungmotor, according to physicians, is a big aid to persons who have been overcome by smoke, strangulation, opium or morphine poisoning or drowning.

FIRE THREATENED JOHN PILLING SHOE PLANT

What threatened to be a dangerous blaze broke out in a blowier pipe at the John Pilling Shoe Co.'s plant in Tyng street last night, but owing to the early discovery and the prompt response of the members of Engine 2 the fire was checked before much material damage was done despite the fact that the firemen were on the scene for nearly two hours.

Blowier pipes are used to carry off shavings of leather and leather dust from two of the buildings, all material from the two places being deposited in the boiler room where it is later consumed in the boiler. It was shortly before eight o'clock last night when the night watchman of the plant saw smoke issuing from the dome on top of the boiler house and he immediately sent in a telephone alarm to the central fire station.

District Chief Crowley and the members of Engine 2 and Truck 2 responded and upon arriving at the scene they found considerable smoke but the fire was confined to the interior of the boiler house and it made it difficult for the firemen to get at it. Ladders were raised to the roof of the boiler house and a chemical line played on the fan house for over an hour. The fire then made its way through the blowier pipe into one of the buildings and the firemen then entered the building and did effective work with the hand extinguishers.

In the meantime word was sent to the Westford street engine house and the chemical unit that station responded and the members rendered material assistance in extinguishing the fire. The damage was slight.

Lowell Man Relates How the New Remedy Has Now Cured His Stomach Trouble.

It is not alone sufficient that the body be provided with suitable food, but it is essential that the food must be changed in form by action of the digestive organs, before it provides energy for the human body. Without good digestion and assimilation there can be no good health. Plant Juice, the new herbal stomach remedy, assists Nature, strengthens the stomach, causing the gastric juices to flow, thereby digesting the food; it acts on the liver and kidneys and eliminates uric acid from the blood, which is the cause of rheumatism; the sufferer is restored to health, which is the heritage of everyone.

Local testimonials from gratified users of Plant Juice continue to pour in, proving that this remedy is still living up to its reputation. One of the most recent is that of Mr. Henry D. McArthur, a well known Lowell citizen, who lives at No. 22 New York street. He stated as follows:

"I had suffered from stomach trouble for over four years; the gas in my stomach caused me great pain, especially after eating, and I could not keep anything solid in my stomach; it affected my heart, and at times I felt suffocated and could scarcely get my breath; I had headaches, was dizzy and nervous, could not sleep at night, was constipated, and had a bad catarrhal cough in the morning when I got up; I was always tired, and had no ambition or energy to do anything; I had been laid up for weeks with a long spell of sickness and was unable to work. When I read about Plant Juice and the good work it was doing in our city, I decided to give it a trial, although I was very skeptical, having taken so many medicines which did me no good whatever. I now am glad to state for the benefit of other sufferers, that I am completely cured. I can eat any kind of food and digest it, always have a good appetite for my meals, and can sleep well at night. I am gaining in weight every day and think Plant Juice is certainly a wonderful medicine."

The Plant Juice Man is at the Dows Drug Store in Lowell, Mass. where he is daily meeting the local public, and introducing and explaining the merits of this remedy.

ing. His Honor presided and Architect Bourke was present with a complete set of plans, which he explained very fully to those present. The mayor read two communications from the advisory board, the first recommending a few changes in the specifications which were approved. The second communication from the advisory board was to the effect that the board did not approve the installation of a power plant in the high school, but that if a plant were installed for educational purposes that it should be a two-unit plant, to provide against the danger of a breakdown in the service. A general discussion followed on the power plant proposition, and while no action was taken, much information was brought out by the discussion.

It seemed to be the opinion of a majority of those present, that it would not be advisable to use a private service plant for educational purposes, as this would very likely impair its efficiency and be of limited value to the public.

It was suggested by a member of the advisory board that the public service wires be used for lighting and power purposes throughout the building, and that a private installation on a smaller and more varied scale be installed for purely educational purposes. This plan will probably be further discussed at future meetings. In view of the fact that only two members of the school board were present, and that none of the municipal council, besides the mayor, attended the meeting it was deemed best not to take a final vote on the power plant question. It was voted, however, to call for bids for the construction of the building as soon as the revised specifications are ready and to allow 30 days for the contractors to prepare and send in their proposals. Proposals will be received by such sub-contractors as may wish to bid, and general contractors will also be invited to send in bids for the entire construction, including all branches of the work. Mr. Roark stated he would have the revised specifications ready in about two weeks, and if he does it is probable that bids will be called for early in November, and be opened about the middle of December.

MATHEWS HELD MEETING MANY EVENTS PLANNED

OFFICERS MADE QUARTERLY REPORTS—LADIES' NIGHT TO BE HELD NEXT WEEK

A well attended meeting of the Mathew Temperance Institute was held last evening with Vice-President John Townsend presiding. Four propositions for membership and numerous committee reports were acted upon. The financial secretary and treasurer submitted their quarterly reports and showed that the society was in a healthy condition financially. The reports were referred to the board of trustees for auditing.

In the upper house the election of missionary bishops to succeed the late Rev. George Biller, Jr., as bishop of South Dakota and the Rt. Rev. Benjamin Brewster transferred to the bishopric of Maine, were on the calendar.

At a joint session of the two houses the domestic mission fields were discussed, missionaries from every nation of the country telling of their experiences.

The lower house adopted the report of the joint commission on the lectioary which urged the shortening of many of the Sunday school lessons by the elimination of lessons and passages deemed archaic. Every result the lectioary will be abridged about ten per cent.

ANOTHER BRITISH LOAN OF $200,000,000

NEGOTIATIONS WITH AMERICAN BANKERS ARE APPROACHING COMPLETION

NEW YORK, Oct. 25.—Negotiations with American bankers for another direct British loan of not less than $200,000,000, and may be as much as $300,000,000, are approaching completion, according to intimations conveyed yesterday by the fiscal and commercial representatives of the British government.

Inquiry for the loan from financial and investment sources is said to be so general as to insure its successful flotation. It is at present planned to arrange the loan or notes in three classes of even amounts, the first installment payable in 1919 and the remaining two-thirds in the two years following.

The loan will be a direct obligation on the Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland, like the existing $250,000,000 issue, and will probably bear the same rate of interest, 5 1/2 per cent. It will be secured by American and foreign collateral, mostly bonds and preferred shares, having an aggregate market value of at least 20 per cent. in excess of the total amount to be offered.

A syndicate of banks, trust companies and private bankers in this city and other leading financial centers has been organized to take part in the negotiations as direct participants, with J. P. Morgan & Co. as manager.

PROTESTANT EPISCOPAL CHURCH CONVENTION

EFFORTS TO SHORTEN THE TEN COMMANDMENTS HAVE BEEN ABANDONED

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Oct. 25.—Efforts to shorten the ten commandments have been abandoned at the present session of the convention of the Protestant Episcopal church, leaders in the convocation announced today. It was asserted that until the next convention in 1920 at least the dialogue will stand in the prayer book as it is. A commission appointed to suggest methods of revision of the book of common prayer favored the shortening of five of the commandments, the elimination of the reasons. Members of the commission asserted today however that this suggestion would not be pressed. Discussion of other phases of the proposed revision was to be resumed late today.

Benjamin Brewster transferred to the bishopric of Maine, were on the calendar. ## BAKERS ARE NOT SELLING LEGAL LOAF OF BREAD

"Only one baker in the state is making for sale a legal loaf of bread," yesterday declared Thos. Hanson, state commissioner of weights and measures, whose office is conducting an investigation of the bakery business with a view to learning whether the law is being observed.

Commissioner Hanson said that 3000 bakers in the state are selling as a "loaf" bread that is under the weight, as the statute stipulates, and a loaf of bread must weigh 32 ounces.

The mistake comes in designating as a loaf of bread that which weighs less than 32 ounces. The law allows a baker to sell a three-quarter loaf of bread for 10 cents, a half loaf for eight cents and a quarter loaf for five cents.

The error is a technical one. Commissioner Hanson says that he proposes to introduce a bill into the upcoming legislature that will provide that a loaf of bread shall weigh 28 ounces. He thinks this standard will obviate the present complication in regard to weights of bread.

QUICK RELIEF FROM CONSTIPATION

Get Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets

That is the joyful cry of thousands since Dr. Edwards produced Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel.

Dr. Edwards, a practicing physician for 17 years and calomel's old-time enemy, discovered the formula for Olive Tablets while treating patients for chronic constipation and torpid livers.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets do not contain calomel, but a healing, soothing vegetable laxative.

No gripping is the "keynote" of these little sugar-coated, olive-colored tablets. They cause the bowels and liver to act normally. They never force them to unnatural action.

If you have a "dark brown month" now and then—a bad breath—a dull, tired feeling—sick headache—torpid liver and are constipated, you'll find quick, sure and only pleasant results from one or two little Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets at bedtime.

Thousands take one or two every night just to keep right. Try them, 10c and 25c per box. All druggists.
